President Thieu Calls For More U.S. Troops

SAIGON — South Vietnam's president said yesterday allied forces can hold the line in Vietnam but more U.S. troops will be needed to bring the war to a quick end.

President Nguyen Van Thieu spoke while U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese fought together in Hue in an effort to wipe out the last major pocket of Communist resistance in the walled Citadel. South Vietnamese warplanes pounded the fortress.

The Vietnamese air force took advantage of clearing weather to bomb and strafe the die-hard Communist forces that have held the Citadel for two weeks despite South Vietnamese efforts to drive them out. U.S. Marine reinforcements were called in and entered the Citadel for the first time.

The Communist North Vietnamese regulars and Viet Cong guerrillas fired a hail of .50-caliber bullets at the raiding planes. Communist forces are holding out in the southeast third of the 2 1/2-square-mile fortress, once the home of Vietnamese emperors and now a pile of ruins.

U Thant Visits Britain for Peace Talks

LONDON — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant flew in from Moscow yesterday seeking Britain's help to head off a runaway escalation of the Vietnamese war and get peace talks started.

Outward signs suggested Thant had found little encouragement for his mission during meetings with Soviet leaders in Moscow.

Thant's stop in London to confer with Prime Minister Harold Wilson was the third in a quickly arranged tour that took him to India before his call in Moscow. He will return to New York today.

India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, according to diplomats here, assured the secretary-general of her government's constant readiness to back any worthwhile attempt inside or outside the United Nations for peace talks.

Each of the three countries he has visited at a time of intensifying conflict in Vietnam has a significant role to play in the peacemaking and peacekeeping process.

Vance Talks With South Korean President

SEOUL — U.S. special envoy Cyrus R. Vance had a three-hour talk yesterday with President Chung Hee Park and other Korean officials aimed at shoring up a rift between the two allies.

Tension flared Jan. 21 with a 31-man North Korean commando raid aimed at assassinating Park. It grew to fever pitch two days later when North Korean patrol boats seized the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo off the coast of North Korea.

Since then, the Americans and North Koreans held a series of five talks at Panmunjom truce village on the Pueblo incident from which both the South Koreans and the Communist Chinese allies of North Korea were barred.

The South Korean public, press and political leaders did not like the secrecy. It was felt that the Americans were paying attention to the Pueblo and its crew at the expense of the North Korean threat to South Korea, and that the United States might appease the North Koreans and thus threaten South Korean security.

Negroes Pressure Businesses With Boycott

ORANGEBURG, S.C. — The first day of a Negro economic boycott prompted business and civic leaders to hold closed door meetings yesterday and ponder sweeping civil rights demands in the wake of racial violence.

Bankers gathered for private talks on employment practices and a newly formed biracial committee met in closed session.

How successful the boycott was could not be immediately determined. There were few Negroes among shoppers in the business district during the day.

More than 600 National Guardsmen remained on duty with sentries posted about the campus of South Carolina State College, scene of an outburst Thursday night that left three Negroes dead and 37 injured.

About 800 Negroes in a Sunday meeting voted for a boycott of white-owned businesses to bring pressure for racial changes and immediate withdrawal of the National Guard.

Farmers Extend Embargo to Meat Products

DES MOINES, Iowa — A 35-state grain market boycott by the National Farmers Organization was extended to meat yesterday in the second phase of an all-commodity withholding action aimed at boosting prices.

The meat embargo was called one month after the NFO instructed its members to hold corn, oats, wheat, rye, soybeans and sorghums off the market until prices reached predetermined levels.

The final phase of the action, a milk sales boycott, is planned at an as yet unscheduled date, said NFO president Oren Lee Staley.

The organization urged its members to hold cattle, hogs and sheep from packing houses until prices rise as much as six cents a pound.

"We're prepared to hold whatever time it takes," said Staley. "How long the action lasts will depend on the desire of the packing industry to fight."

Teachers' Organization Threatens Strike

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania school teachers were advised yesterday to cool their angry threat of a one-day strike and demonstration March 4 in pressing for higher starting salaries.

It was the Pennsylvania State Educators Association's 1,000-member House of Delegates which overwhelmingly approved a resolution last Saturday calling for a demonstration in Harrisburg March 4 by 25 per cent of the organization's 80,000 membership.

Those teacher members who did not protest in the Capital were advised to take March 4 off for "professional seminars" back home.

The teachers are fighting for a new bill which would increase starting salaries from $4,500 to $6,000 over three years.

Legislative leaders, who preferred not to be drawn into a public argument with the teachers, generally were agreed that a protest in Harrisburg would do little to speed up passage of the measure.

Abel Quits Americans for Democratic Action

PITTSBURGH — President I. W. Abel of the United Steelworkers quit the board of the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) yesterday because the ADA isn't backing President Johnson for reelection.

In a wire to ADA Chairman John K. Galbraith, the president of the 1.2 million member steel union said: "The board's repudiation of President Johnson on the basis of a single issue in a time of national concern and commitment, while ignoring the President's overall record of accomplishment in areas of traditional concern to ADA, is unwarranted, unrealistic, shortsighted and ignores the realities of the present political situation."

The ADA board, meeting in Washington Saturday, voted 65-47 to support Eugene McCarthy, a Minnesota Democrat and Vietnamese peace advocate, for president. It was the first time in 20 years that the ADA hasn't backed an incumbent Democrat for president.

USG Pushes for Book Store

By KITTY PHILBIN
Collegian USG Reporter

The Undergraduate Student Government is persisting in its efforts to have a University-operated student bookstore established on campus, despite what USG officials call "a lack of reaction from the Administration."

USG's Administrative Action Commission compiled a report on the bookstore situation and sent letters on the subject to President Eric A. Walker, Vice President for Student Affairs Charles L. Lewis and Vice President for Business Stanley Campbell.

Steve Gerson, chairman of the Administrative Action Commission, said the letters were sent last week, but no response has yet been received from the recipients.

Gerson said that he believes the decision will be mainly up to Lewis.

No Reason Why Not

Gerson also said that he is unable to see any reason why the administration would not be willing to include a bookstore in their budget "because in reality it wouldn't be costing them anything. It would generate enough revenue to support itself."

One of the main disagreements USG has with the current book buying situation at Penn State involves the buying and selling of used books.

The local bookstores belong to the National Association of College Stores, an organization of both university and privately owned enterprises.

Gerson said that NACS "recommends" a policy of buying used books, as long as they are in half decent condition, at 50 per cent of their original cost. The store then resells the books at 75 per cent.

Report, Letters Sent To Several Officials

At this rate, books would cost the student only 25 per cent of the original price. Gerson said that as to whether the local stores follow this practice or not, "people can judge for themselves."

In Expanded HUB

USG contends that space for a book store could be included in the already proposed expansion of the Hetzel Union Building. An immediate request, mentioned in the report, asked the Board of Trustees to allow the present BX to sell new text books on a trial basis at the beginning of each term.

To lead up to the proposed store, USG is also continuing its efforts to have a full time manager hired for the BX.

Although students would not save a tremendous amount of money on new books, at most 10 per cent, USG says that an efficiently run University store could save money on general school supplies, besides savings on used books.

The Administrative Action Commission's report cited instances at the University of Pittsburgh, plus PSU Commonwealth campuses, where University-operated stores are conducting business successfully.

In October of 1960, it was reported to USG that "87 per cent of the State Universities with over 10,000 students enrolled have book stores, and every major school in Pennsylvania has a book store." The number has increased over the past seven years.

Gerson called for mass faculty and student support of USG in its attempt to have the bookstore plan approved; USG can pass another resolution but the main response must come from the student body.

Senators' Talk Centers On War, Draft, Cities

By RICHARD WIESENHUTTER
Collegian Editor

Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D-Pa.) and Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) traded views and comments on U.S. domestic and foreign problems Sunday night, taking some friendly swipes at each other in the process.

In the joint symposium at Schwab which was continued in the main lounge of the Hetzel Union Building, Clark and Scott discussed Vietnam, the draft, the Pueblo crisis and urban problems.

Both Senators agreed on their support of President Johnson on the war in Vietnam, but both men said they disagree with various areas of the policy.

Clark, despite his objections to the way the war is being handled, predicted the U.S. "will be engaged in negotiations before the summer's over." He said President Johnson is a "political realist" who will end the war "by accepting the offers that have been made to negotiate."

Blunders and Commitments

While Scott said he supported the U.S. commitment, "a sacrosanct thing involving treaty obligations we can not break," Clark said he feels the U.S. "blundered" its way into Vietnam. He added that he does not feel the U.S. has a

"binding commitment."

Clark, a reputed dove, recently returned from a fact-finding mission to Vietnam. He said last night his trip convinced him that "our top people are living in a dream world in their thinking about Asian affairs." He added that he believes there is not so much of a credibility gap as a "put-over" in Vietnam policy as much as he feels the Administration is "unduly optimistic" because of "wrong thinking."

Scott said he is neither hawk, dove or "pigeon," and said he does find fault with the way the war is being handled. He also suggested that a new Administration would have more success in negotiations with Hanoi — negotiations which he said should include the Viet Cong. "The enemy is more liable to deal with new faces than with the old," he said.

A land war in Asia, as Scott described it, is "highly unwise," he said. Scott also argued against the present pacification program in Vietnam, saying it has had its "setbacks as we've had setbacks elsewhere."

No Views

Clark said he has no views on the pacification program, but he called it "dead" in view of the events of the last 10 days.

Although both Senators disagreed on various areas of the war policy, they affirmed their decision against tactical use of nuclear weapons in Vietnam, a recent Administration consideration.

Draft Proposal

Clark also proposed two years mandatory military service for all men when they reach age 18. He added that he considers the present draft law a "rotten one," the "product of a military mind at work."

"As long as it's necessary though," he said, "I think we should have some kind of mandatory program which would leave students free to lead their lives with no overbearing military obligations to meet when they leave college."

Scott said he disagrees with areas of the selective service law, but did not elaborate on his view.

The Senators also challenged each other on the Pueblo crisis. Clark commended President Johnson for restraint in the situation. He added that the U.S. "should never have to use nuclear weapons" to save the ship.

Scott said the word "never" could be ruled out. He added that he wished the U.S. had "a president who knew what to do" in the issue.

Cambridge Says No Show for IFC

By MARGE COHEN

Collegian IFC Reporter

Godfrey Cambridge will not appear in Sunday's Greek Week Concert, Interfraternity Council Concert Chairman Fred Kirschner announced last night.

Cambridge is hospitalized in the Mt. Siani Hospital in New York City, Kirschner said. The reason "for his admission to the hospital was not released."

Cambridge was to appear with the Young Rascals in the annual Recreation Hall concert, sponsored by the IFC and the Panhellenic Council. Kirschner said that a replacement for Cambridge is now being sought and will be named at a later time.

The Young Rascals will still appear in concert, Kirschner said. He added that he expects them "to break a new record with their performance at the University."

The Rascals are one of the best-known rock groups in America. They broke into show business in the fall of 1965 with their first hit, "I Ain't Gonna Eat Out My Heart Anymore." Since then, every record they have released has been a big seller.

Gold Hits

Two of their hit songs, "Good Lovin'" and "Groovin'," were awarded gold records by Atlantic Records for sales of one million copies. To date, they have released four albums, the latest, "Once Upon a Dream," a psychedelic arrangement of songs already named to "Billboard."

Two of their other albums, "Collections" and "Groovin'," have made the top five album chart listings. "The Young Rascals" was their first LP.

But the Young Rascals have done more than create hit records. They have made a name

Apartment AHS Action Put Off

Final action on the proposal to extend late permission for women students to men's apartments was postponed, according to Vice President Charles L. Lewis.

The Association of Women Students passed a bill requesting such action last week. It has been discussed by the Administrative Committee for Student Affairs, but a decision will not be made until later this week or early next week.

If approved by the committee, the new policy would grant women students the use of after hours service at their own discretion.

for themselves all over the world. They have appeared in night clubs, arenas, concert halls and rock shows. Last year in Honolulu, they drew a bigger audience than any other rock group to appear in the Hawaiian capital.

On their agenda for this year are a world tour and a feature length movie. One of their members, Eddie Brigati, lead singer and percussionist, is the subject of a book by Billy Smith, one of the Rascals' public relations men.

The other members of the group are Tim Danelli on drums; Felix Cavaliere on the organ and Gene Cornish on guitar. They write and arrange their own numbers, including hits like "How Can I Be Sure," "A Girl Like You," "Groovin'," and their latest hit, "It's Wonderful."

Doors for the concert will open at 8 p.m. Feb. 18 in Recreation Hall. Music before the concert will be provided by "The Darker Side." Tickets are still available on the ground floor of the Hetzel Union Building.

Donaldson Says Hike Necessary

By JAY SHORE

Collegian Editorial Columnist

State Rep. Lee Donaldson (R-Allegheny) said last night that he would support a tuition hike of $100 a year if raising taxes was the only alternative to meet an $11 million education request.

"I don't think the tuition figure of $450 a year is sacrosanct," he said. The House Majority Leader said the $37 million increase in funds available to state schools is significantly below the total figure requested.

Speaking of last week's activities in the Constitutional Convention, the ex-officio delegate thought that the Convention had gotten too bogged down in discussion over the reduction of the size of the House.

He is against the legislative apportionment committee's proposal which asks that the House maintain its present 203 membership.

Donaldson said that the ConCon is doing exactly what it had set out to correct in that it is rigidifying proposals and not operating along broad lines.

Although Donaldson is satisfied with the present size of the House, he remarked that he might feel different within the next decade.

"I don't think the Pennsylvania Constitution should lock-in a House size of any number . . . I think it's an absurdity to set a figure," Donaldson said.

A large House, however, does yield some advantages, he said. Because of a relatively small constituency (one legislator to 60,000 people), any man with a "few dollars" can campaign for office, he noted.

"A large House has always been more responsive to progressive legislation than a small Senate," he also pointed out.

Speaking on legislative issues, Donaldson claimed that an increase in teachers' salaries to a minimum of $6,000 a year is "the most pressing problem this session."

He is committed to the increase because he thinks it necessary. "We have to find the money," he said. He didn't say where the money would come from.

"Many structural changes will be difficult without public support," was Donaldson's reply to a question asking him when the legislators will get down to work.

On other topics, Donaldson said he was in favor of the Code of Ethics bill before the House on its third reading. "As a lawyer, I really would like to know what I can do and cannot do," he said. Although he would rather see a stronger bill, he's satisfied that this bill is the most practical, in terms of passage.

Talking of unlimited sessions, the majority leader said, "I don't think the legislature should adjourn itself." He would like to see the legislative session end by July 1. But the legislators should be active all the time, he said.

Aid to parochial schools will be a "very controversial issue" this session, Donaldson said. The Majority leader of the House spoke at a press conference at the Downtowner Motor Inn.

Distinguished Pianist To Perform Tomorrow

Earl Wild, distinguished American pianist and the first ever to perform a recital over television, will present a recital of music by Frederic Chopin at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Recital Hall of the Music Building.

The program, which will be the first of three to be presented by the pianist this year, will be open to the public without charge.

Wild, recently appointed professor of music at Penn State, is one of only two pianists to have ever recorded the complete works for piano and orchestra by Rachmaninoff. The other was Rachmaninoff himself.

Critic Allen Hughes, of The New York Times, recently praised Wild's recording of the Brahms Paganini Variations, tabbing Wild as a "master pianist capable of accomplishing incredibly smooth pianism in works that dare the performer to conquer their difficulties."

The current issue of Musical America refers to the same recording as "colossal in its clarity and unflinching accuracy . . . rhythmic details are firm, phrases are clearly delineated and never is there the slightest hint of flurry or insecurity."

Wild's program tomorrow will consist of 12 of the Chopin Etudes, six of them from Opus 10 and six from Opus 25.

In addition, he will perform the Grande Polonaise Opus 22, a Chopin Ballade Opus 47, the Chopin Scherzo Opus 31 and several other works.

Wild's second piano recital, which will be part of the Beethoven Festival sponsored by the department of music, will be given on Feb. 27.

Wild's other accomplishments include solo performances before five American presidents, including the inaugural concert of the late John F. Kennedy where he appeared with the National Symphony Orchestra.

EARL WILD, recently appointed professor of music at the University, will perform at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Music Building. Called a 'master pianist' by the New York Times, he will play 12 Chopin Etudes.

IFC College Bowl Starts; Funds for Project Sought

Preliminaries for the Greek Week College Bowl will begin tonight and continue tomorrow and Thursday nights, according to "Greek Week-'68" Co-Chairman Bob DiOrio. The competition for the 44 contenders will begin at 6:30 p.m. in 215 Hetzel Union Building.

DiOrio said that these eliminations will produce the teams for the semi-finals to be held next Monday. The 4-member teams, consisting of representatives from two sororities and two fraternities, will compete in 30-minute matches, facing questions ranging from science to liberal arts to trivia.

'And Tonight We Have . . .'

Teams scheduled for competition tonight are Alpha Sigma Phi and Phi Kappa Sigma vs. Delta Delta Delta and Kappa Delta; Sigma Alpha Mu and Triangle vs. Chi Omega and Gamma Phi Beta; Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Chi vs. Alpha Phi and Iota Alpha Pi; Acacia and Tau Kappa Epsilon vs. Alpha Gamma Delta and Kappa Alpha Theta; Alpha Phi Delta and Alpha Kappa Lambda vs. Alpha Zeta Delta and Phi Mu; and Theta Delta Chi and Theta Psi vs. Delta Zeta and Zeta Tau Alpha.

Teams scheduled for matches tomorrow night will be announced in tomorrow's Collegian.

Competition will begin at 8:45 p.m.

The finals for the College Bowl will be held Friday, Feb. 23rd, when plaques will be awarded to the winning team and the first and second runners-up.

A drive for the planned community center for the residents of State College will be the philanthropic project for "Greek Week-'68," DiOrio announced yesterday. Next Tuesday has been designated as the day for the drive.

DiOrio said that since civic groups of the area have been discussing the idea of a community center for some time, the Greek Week Committee felt that helping to raise funds for the center would benefit this cause.

He said that the civic groups, town merchants, sororities and fraternities will be approached for their contributions for the center. Student booths will be set up at the foot of the Mall and on the ground floor of the HUB for any students desiring to donate. "I certainly hope that the entire student body as well as Greek organizations will back us in this project. A community center for this area has long been the topic for discussion. I hope that our efforts in 'Greek Week-'68' will help it to become a reality," said the Greek Week Co-Chairman.

Dismay in the Senate

South Vietnamese president Nguyen Van Thieu said yesterday that to win the war quickly more U.S. troops are needed in Vietnam.

For the first time in recent years a Vietnamese request subtle as it is for increased U.S. involvement in the war might be falling on increasingly unsympathetic ears.

For if there has been anything at all encouraging about recent developments in the Vietnamese situation it has been the growing trend among citizens and legislators toward a reappraisal of the American role in Vietnam.

Senator Joseph S. Clark speaking here Sunday night made the kind of comment more and more of his Senatorial colleagues have made of late.

Clark said that his recent fact-finding trip to Vietnam convinced him that "our top people are living in a dream world in their thinking about Asian affairs."

If top officials are still living in a dream world it seems that finally members of the Senate, even those who have been firmly committed to the Administration's policy, are beginning to enter the real world.

Clark's views are echoed by Kentucky Senator Thurston B. Morton who has been quoted as saying that there is a decidedly negative reaction within the Senate to what he termed "the continued bland and probably inaccurate statements of confidence" issued by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Deputy Ambassador Robert W. Komer and the White House.

Senator Robert F. Kennedy added to the chorus of dismay last week saying that the Vietcong offensive had "shattered the masks of official illusion."

Along with the growing disbelief in official reports on the war's progress some Senators are beginning to contend that the United States may already have fulfilled its commitment to the South Vietnamese government.

Failure of South Vietnamese forces to come to the defense of the American Embassy or beleaguered provincial Capitols during the Tet holidays has cast considerable doubt on whether South Vietnam is carrying its share of the war effort.

Senator Clark's observation on the dreamworld existence of our top officials is in agreement with much of the Senate's thinking. Hopefully his statement that the end of the summer will find the U.S. involved in peace negotiations will become a reality.

If President Johnson is indeed the "political realist" Clark terms him, perhaps the growing legislative dismay with the war many prove fruitful. Hopefully, from the dismay will come peace.

An American Dilemma: The White Problem

by richard ravitz

Editor's Note: "Reportage" columns give senior reporters a chance to speak out on important issues, many of which they meet firsthand in their reportorial jobs.

Opinions expressed in reportage columns are not necessarily those of the Collegian Board of editors.

The paradoxical nature of race relations was summed up, by Ebony magazine in August, 1965, when it devoted a special issue to "The White Problem in America."

The white problem is, in brief: How can the majority of the people knowingly and at times unknowingly suppress the economic, social and political advancement of a racial minority in the most prosperous, progress-minded democracy in the world?

The white Anglo-Saxon Protestant majority in the United States is certainly not a collection of barbarians and racist tyrants. But it has accepted acts of barbarism and racist tyranny inflicted on Indians, blacks and other minorities.

And now, after four summers of riots, the affluent descendants of immigrants are losing their old sense of kinship with the people on the bottom of the social ladder.

The white liberal, an affluent, educated, socially responsible citizen in the eyes of his peers, poses a grave challenge to American democracy.

The New York Times, Dec. 17, 1967, reported that a substantial number of white liberals in the academic community agree with black nationalists that "racial separation" is the best policy for advancement in the ghetto cities at this time, or as some contend, in the foreseeable future.

Racial separation in Afrikaans reads apartheid. In the South it used to be called Jim Crow or segregation. The white liberals do not like these terms. The white conservatives are too embarrassed to speak.

It is ironic to find a Harvard scholar believing that separate development will not create new injustice or worsen the injustice already in existence in 1968, when only four years ago he attributed urban unrest to the segregated pattern of society.

A sociologist here at the University said that urban riots will hamper civil rights, will "set the cause back." This view is widely held by well-meaning people.

In the first place, the exercise of civil rights does not cause riots. Riots are expressions of hopelessness, futility. The youth who loots a store is not concerned with constitutional questions.

Summer riots did not kill the proposed open-housing legislation in Congress, but they did provide an excuse for legislators to shelve an unpopular measure.

The ghetto teenager who throws rocks at the police is not going to move next door. The middle-class black wants the house.

But returning to the white liberal, what can be done about him? Bayard Rustin, long-time rights leader in New York, reminds us that the civil rights acts of 1964 and 1965 dealt only with legal equality and were passed a century after emancipation. A situation which was allowed to deteriorate for a century does not greatly improve overnight.

Martin Luther King, the symbolic leader of the civil rights movement, said in 1965 that the white liberal must come to grips with his own racial prejudice, instead of self-righteously denying he has any hate or antagonism.

Malcolm X, while no apostle of brotherly love, said the races do not love each other and there is no reason they should, but the races should respect each other on the basis of deed.

University students are notorious for patronizing blacks, quite unintentionally. The black on campus is still a new experience for many students. If he is not integrated into college life, it is because he is not integrated into society at large. But progress is being made.

The solution to the racial problem may ultimately lie in education, for black and white. Only through the schools can a meaningful dialogue between persons take place. The races have stared at each other, cursed each other and shot at each other. They should now read about each other.

Letters to the Editor

The Traffic Is Terrific

TO THE EDITOR: I think the traffic problem of the University has reached such proportions that it is time to call it to your attention.

At eleven o'clock a.m., Tuesday, Jan. 23, I drove around the campus and around the city for a half hour searching in vain for a legal place to park so that I might confer with a professor on the advisability of returning to college for a master's degree.

It is my honest opinion that the University is shifting the burden of the parking problem onto the city which is unwilling to accept it. If you force cars off the University property, will people stop operating them? No! They will find a place in the city to ditch them. Thus the problem is compounded.

Both the city and the University say they take cognizance of the problem. Actually, they turn the problem into a profit by penalizing professors, students, and visitors to the area with numerous traffic laws, stiff fines, and parking meters with short time limits.

Has anyone ever estimated the amount of money taken in by selling parking permits and issuing endless streams of tickets? Even rough conservative calculations result in staggering amounts of money. Why isn't this money earmarked for solution of the obvious parking problem? A student would not mind paying a five, ten or fifteen dollar fine if he felt it would eventually mean free parking or a place to park at reasonable rates in a parking garage built for students and professors.

I maintain that since the University has everyone associated with the University "over the barrel" no constructive and positive action will be taken to correct such a profitable situation!

This generation, more than any other, is a mobile generation. We should face reality with understanding and reason so that solutions for problems can be found instead of avoiding issues, postponing positive action, and antagonizing everyone.

The Big Deception

TO THE EDITOR: We feel that the U.S. Army is undermining the consciences and minds of all Americans. Our soldiers wear uniforms with a great pride thinking that they are warriors protecting liberty, democracy, and freedom throughout the world. We feel this is a grave error.

In order to compensate for this error we have devised a plan. We would suggest that the uniforms of our armed forces be changed so that the people will know exactly who they represent when they do battle.

For example, if they are fighting in South America for freedom and democracy, they should have large lettering on their backs spelling out UNITED FRUIT! If in Thailand, CHASE MANHATTAN BANK; If in Peru, STANDARD OIL; If in Spain, TEXACO OIL; If in Chile, ANACONDA COPPER; If in Nigeria, MOBILE OIL.

It would be a marvelous idea, for our boys would no longer have any doubts about what they are dying for. The public would no longer be divided on the war. There would be no credibility gap.

Also, when people watch the war on TV, they could actually see their favorite companies doing battle. By having such uniforms, the stock market and Wall Street could change so that soldiers would be counted instead of points, eliminating the false notion that statistics lie.

Who knows, people could get extra dividends by investing their sons in corporations. Of course, some of our boys will get killed or wounded. But you know, business is business in America.

Assorted Lectures Fill Valentine's Day Week

By JUDY GOULD
Collegian Staff Writer

An ex-communist, a geneticist, an expert on the South Pacific, and the University Readers hit computer Park in this week's lecture programs.

The Creative Edge will unveil the week's schedule in the Memorial Lounge of the Eisenhower Chapel. The noon program today will present Rustom Roy speaking on "The Material Difference."

The weekly German Film will be back in the Hetzel Union Building Auditorium at 7 and 9 p.m. Tonight there will be a double silent feature—"The Last Laugh" (silent???) and "Faust."

Remember the posters and signs you've been seeing all over campus on every mailbox, telephone pole, and street lamp, advertising some guy named Luce? Well, tonight's the night. Philip Abbott Luce, a former member of the Communist Party, will speak in 102 Forum, at 7:30. His topic, "Why I Left the Left," should be interesting.

Will You Be My... Tomorrow is the day for all good men to come to the aid of their better halves with flowers, candy, and cards to prove their steadfast devotion—or something like that. Anyway, it looks to be the most eventful, if not interesting, day of the week.

The McElwain recreation room will be the scene of this week's Wednesday night Town Independent Men's mixer. The bewitching hour is 6:30 p.m.

How'd you like to swim in the warm waters of the South Pacific tomorrow night? Well, if you can't make it, the next best thing is to see it, and that's just what you can do. The Nittany Divers will present Robert Schmalz with slides from his skin diving experiences in the South Seas. The place — 60 Willard. The time — 7 o'clock. (refreshments, too!!)

A lecture of specific interest to science majors will be held tomorrow night at 8. James E. Wright, professor of genetics, is scheduled to speak on "The Genetic Control of Man" in 111 Bouckee.

If your valentine likes classical music, win her heart for sure. Take her to Recital Hall in the Music Building at 8:30 tomorrow night. Earl Wild will be performing a Chopin piano recital.

Repertory Theater And don't forget the Repertory Theater on WPSX-TV. This week's 10 o'clock show will be Norman Corwin's adaptation of the Lincoln-Douglas debates (in 100 years it will be someone's adaptation of the Clark-Scott debates, maybe?). Theatre arts will be the word for Thursday. First, the Five O'Clock Theatre moves to the Pavilion Theatre. The original play this week will be "One More Game" by Gino Pisanano. Show time: 5:20 p.m.

At 6:30 Aristophanes' comedy, "Lysistrata," will be read in Waring Lounge by the University Readers.

Underground films will still be active in the HUB Auditorium at 7 and 9 p.m. This week "Orpheus" by Coteau will be shown.

And at 8:30 the Pavilion Theatre will open for the second week of "The Rape of Lucretia."

Last weekend proved that "the nose knows," for the prediction that Mel Montemero, a graduate student from Windsor Locks, Conn., would win TIM's Casino Nite trip to Bermuda came true. Congratulations! (to Mel and us!)

USG's College Bowl Opens With First Round

The 1968 edition of the Undergraduate Student Government College Bowl got underway last night, with the first four contests of the opening round in the Hetzel Union Building Assembly Room. Contests were between residence hall teams, with the fraternity and organization bouts to begin later.

Moderator Stanley Sheppard, University physics professor, started the first round between Montour Pike and Mercer houses after an explanation of the bowl rules by Diane Clymer, contest chairman. Montour Pike won this initial bout 120-90, thereby qualifying for competition in the semi-final round, as did all last night's victors.

The second match resulted in a victory for Lawrence McKean house over Easton house, 110-85. In the third meet, Clark Meader, contest judge, declared that Williamsport house had forfeited in favor of Pottstown house.

The evening's fourth and final contest saw a victory for Snyder Wayne, as it defeated Watts 11 by 135-100.

College Bowl competition will continue tomorrow as four more contests will be held. The bowl will be held each week until March 6, when a final champion will be decided.

'Would Meet Them Tomorrow'

Johnson Peace Offer Holds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said last night that despite the Communist offensive in Vietnam, his San Antonio Formula offer for peace talks still stands and "we would meet them tomorrow."

Johnson discussed Vietnam, dissent at home and unrest in the cities in a wide-ranging 75-minute question and answer session with a group of 11 college students.

Johnson said that in seeking peace in Vietnam, "we have gone just as far as decent and honorable people can go."

But he said he stands behind his 1967 offer to halt the bombing of North Vietnam and talk promptly if the Communists indicated this would be productive.

But, addressing the Communists in effect, he added: "We don't want you to take advantage like you did during the Tet."

If Hanoi is interested, Johnson said, it wouldn't have to change a "could" to a "will" or indulge in any other semantical niceties in stating its position.

As an example, he went on, all they would have to do "is drop a line and say Geneva is the place and tomorrow is the day."

Johnson said Hanoi's answer to his earlier offer of the San Antonio formula was the assault on 44 South Vietnamese cities and 24 U.S. bases "on a sacred day"—the Vietnamese New Year.

"Yet we would meet them tomorrow," he added, "but we're not going to surrender."

The college students who met with Johnson in the White House living quarters were members of the National Board of Choice '68, a nationwide collegiate presidential preference primary to be held on more than 100 campuses April 24.

In the balloting, students not only will pick their choice for the presidency but will express themselves on referendum issues including Vietnam and the urban crisis.

Johnson was asked how he felt about antiwar sentiment and demonstrations on college campuses.

"They sadden me, they trouble me, I think because I know how they feel," the President replied.

He said it would be a "very unusual student" who wouldn't be concerned, who wouldn't seek alternatives, who wouldn't want to see the war ended as quickly as possible.

The chief executive conceded that a lot of students "think there is a better way out than what we're doing."

Former Communist To Talk To YAF, Press at Jawbone

The Jawbone will house two informal discussions this afternoon with Phillip Abbott Luce, former leader of American communism.

All members of Young Americans for Freedom, the organization sponsoring Luce on campus, will be introduced to him at a special chapter meeting at 2:30 p.m. in the Jawbone. Luce will describe various types of effective anti-communist action.

At 4:30 p.m., Luce will meet 12 representatives of the University and the press in an informal conference. Attending will be Jeff Long, president of Undergraduate Student Government; Jon Fox, USG vice president; Richard Wiesenhuber, editor of The Daily Collegian; John Samuels, president of the Graduate Student Association; Gerry Hammon, editor of the Altoona Mirror; Faith Tanney, Association of Women Students president; Eric Rabe of WDFM; William Epstein, city editor of The Daily Collegian; Ed Widmer of the Lutheran Student Foundation; Champ R.

Storch, director of student activities, and Lawrence H. Lattman of the College of Earth and Mineral Science.

He is the author of two books, "The New Left" and "Road to Revolution: Communist Guerilla Warfare in the U.S."

The latter book and reprints of an article, "Yes, Susie Cream-cheese, There Really Is an SDS," will be sold by YAF at a table on the ground floor of the HUB today.

Information on Israel Presented This Week

The Israel Information Week program will be highlighted tonight by a lecture on "Today-Opportunities in Israel," to be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Hibel Foundation.

The speakers will be Yosef Schiff, the national director of the Student Zionist Organization, and Ray Levin, director of Israel Programs American Zionist Youth Foundation.

A film, "City of Eilat," depicting the development and future of the city of Eilat, will be shown at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow night at Hillel. This will be followed immediately by Israeli folk dancing at 8:15 p.m. A fireside sing will be held in the main lounge of the Hetzel Union Building at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

An information booth on Israel is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the HUB every day until Friday. Information is available on such programs as Sherut Lalam, a volunteer service corps in which students work for one year with underprivileged youths and recent immigrants to Israel.

A Volunteers for Israel Program puts students to work for 6 months in establishing Border Kibbutzim, strengthening existing settlements and working in Special Development Projects.

Students can go to a summer session at Hebrew University on a cooperative program between that University, the State University of New York and Temple University. In addition, a full year can be spent at Hebrew University as part of the regular Penn State study abroad program.

PSU Astrophysicist To Speak

D. H. Sampson, associate professor of astronomy, will discuss "Methods for Calculation of Statistical Equilibrium Model Stellar Atmospheres" at the Physics Colloquium at 4 p.m. Thursday in 117 Osmond. Currently engaged in testing and refining approximate methods of treating radiative transport, Sampson, an astrophysicist, has also conducted research in atomic physics, statistical mechanics and kinetic theory, and inelastic collision cross sections. He has been a consultant for the General Atomic Division of the General Dynamics Corp. since 1966.

Stanley Weintraub, professor of English, is author of a new book, "The Last Great Cause." The book examines comments made by British and American authors to the Spanish Civil War of the 1930's.

Visiting Lecturer Kenneth J. Polakowski, associate professor of landscape architecture, is serving as visiting design critic and lecturer at North Carolina State University this week.

He will present a lecture to the School of Design on "Domination: The 'Natural' Design Principle," and will also present and critique a three-day design problem he authored, entitled, "A Small Urban Park."

Polakowski will conduct a seminar, presenting examples of his professional work for student discussion and criticism.

"Long Range Planning for Schools" was the topic of a discussion by two University faculty members, Walter J. DeLacy, professor of education, and Hugh M. Davison, professor of educational research, presented for teachers and administrators of the Bellefonte Area School District at their in-service meeting Monday.

The State Department of Public Instruction has requested all school districts in Pennsylvania to make plans for their educational activities and the facilities needed for them for a ten-year period.

Charles L. Lewis, vice-president for student affairs, will speak on "The Changing American College Student" before the Faculty Luncheon Club at 12:15 p.m. Monday in Room A of the Hetzel Union Building.

His talk is the fifth in the Winter Term series on "Penn State's Response to Today's Social Problems."

Scholarships for the junior year at the University of St. Andrews or the University of Aberdeen, Scotland, are being offered to University Students by the St. Andrews Society of Philadelphia.

Each scholarship amounts to $1,200, enough to cover living expenses during the school term, all academic expenses, and most of the cost of trans-Atlantic passage.

Applications and complete details of the awards may be obtained from Ralph P. Krecker, director of the Office of Student Aid, 125 Grange.

Book Published

Yar G. Chomicki, associate professor of art education, is the author of the book, "Watercolor Painting: Media, Methods, and Materials," to be published on March 1.

The 196-page book is an introduction to watercolor processes and materials. Chomicki explains the procedures and techniques of using gouache, pastel, and tempera, as well as transparent watercolors.

Paul Ebaugh, associate dean for research, College of Engineering, will speak on "Management of Material and Services for Research" before a research administrative workshop of the Engineering College Research Council, a division of the American Society for Engineering Education.

The workshop will be held Feb. 21-23 at the University of Mississippi in Oxford, Miss.

250 Student Teach

Nearly 250 juniors and seniors at the University are student teaching during the Winter Term at junior and senior high schools in Eastern and Western Pennsylvania.

Fifty-three schools, in Allegheny, Beaver, Bucks, Butler, Delaware, Montgomery, and Philadelphia counties are co-operating in the program.

Experience as a student teacher is one of the requirements for the baccalaureate degree in all majors in which students are preparing to become teachers.

During the student-teaching experience, the students are expected to systematically observe expert teaching and also to engage, under supervision, in the actual conduct of class sessions.

NROTC Program Open to Graduates

Graduate students as well as undergraduates, provided they have at least two years to complete before they receive their degree, are now eligible to enroll in the two-year contract program in Navy ROTC.

In announcing the modified program which leads to a commission in the Navy or the Marine Corps, Capt. LeRoy B. Fraser, professor of naval science, explained that applications are now available at the Navy ROTC office in Wagner and will be accepted through the first week of March.

Physical examinations will be given at Wagner during the week of Feb. 19 by a Navy examining team. Those interested are encouraged to complete the physical at that time. Otherwise, the physical will have to be taken at another Navy installation with the student providing his own transportation to and from the station.

Fraser pointed out that applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 25 and that marriage is not a disqualifying factor. They must have been accepted for or enrolled in a program at the University or at one of the other 52 colleges and universities with NROTC programs. They must have at least two years of college to complete as of the start of the Fall Term and have at least a 2.00 average.

Accepted candidates will attend an expense-paid six-week summer training course during July and August of this year and receive pay of $95.70 per month while enrolled. Upon successful completion of the course and formal acceptance into the contract program, midshipmen officer candidates will be paid a monthly allowance of $50 and complete the standard NROTC curriculum, including a six-to-eight week summer at sea training cruise during 1969.

Hey,
you with the brains.

Thought about an oil company? Talk with the man from Gulf. He'll be on campus February 22 and 23.

He's looking for men who like to stir things up — engineering and business grads with a lot of zap.

Gulf is one of the majors in oil. We're also growing in chemicals, plastics, fertilizers, adhesives and atomic energy. We market in 48 states. We move around in 50 countries.

Our man will tell you all about it. Make a date through your placement office.

Who knows? We might live happily ever after.

An equal opportunity employer.

"Want a company where you can really put your education to work? See IBM Feb. 26th or 27th."

"Some of the engineers who graduated before me complained that their education didn't mean much in their jobs. That's not what I wanted," says IBM's Jim Carr. (Jim is a Manager of Mechanical Process Engineering.)

"At IBM I knew I'd be using what I learned. There's so much diversity here that you can usually work in the specific area you choose. In my own case, I majored in Mechanical Engineering and minored in Metallurgy. Today my ME degree means more than ever. And I often use my metallurgical background. For example, I'm now working on a process development program that requires a knowledge of machine design, metallurgy, heat transfer, and chemistry, all of which I studied in school.

"Another good thing about IBM's diversity is that it creates an interdisciplinary environment. You get a chance to work with and learn from people in many different fields. Since our industry is growing so fast, the people you talk to are likely to be working at state-of-the-art levels or beyond."

There's a lot more to the IBM story than Jim has mentioned. We'd like to tell you about it when we're on campus. We'll be interviewing for careers in Marketing, Computer Applications, Programming, Research and Development, Manufacturing, and Field Engineering.

Sign up for an interview at your placement office, even if you're headed for graduate school or military service. And if you can't make a campus interview, send an outline of your interests and educational background to Mr. I. C. Pfeiffer, IBM Corporation, 100 South Wacker Drive, Chicago, Illinois 60606. We're an equal opportunity employer.

Defeat Buffalo

Fencers Win 4th

With an 0-2 record after two matches, it looked as if the 1968 fencing season at Penn State would be a repeat of past performances, when sub-500 records were the rule rather than the exception. Now after four straight wins, including Saturday's 14-13 upset over favored University of Buffalo, the possibility of a .500 or better year stares the Nittany swordsmen in the face.

Saturday at Buffalo, the host Bulls found themselves locked in a head-to-head battle with an inspired Lion team. The Lions took a short-lived 5-4 lead at the end of the first round with the Bulls tying a 9-9 knot by taking the second round, 5-4.

Cadets Crush Lion Trackmen, 84-34

By DON MCKEE
Collegian Sports Writer

The past weekend was the longest, and certainly the toughest, that Penn State's track team will face this season. After participating in the United States Track and Field Federation meet Friday, the Lions moved up to West Point to meet undefeated Army.

After seeing some fine individual efforts in the USTFF meet, the Lions went flat Saturday and dropped an 84-34 meet to the Cadets.

In the USTFF afternoon meet, State's Sheaffer topped the field of 47 men and ran off with the first place medal in the mile. Sheaffer, running before 15,500 fans in the last track meet ever to be held in the "old" Madison Square Garden, turned in a 4:15 mile to pace the field.

Also in the afternoon events, Mike Schurko took second place in the 1,000-yard run. The State freshman, racing varsity athletes, was clocked at 2:15, a new Penn State record in the 1,000 yards.

After that showing Schurko was invited to the prestigious evening invitational meet where most of the great trackmen in America were participating. He again placed second and again ran the 1,000 yards in 2:15. Each time, Schurko was beaten by Mike Williams of North Carolina, the Atlantic Coast Conference Champion.

Bob Beam took home a fifth place in the 60 yard dash after running five grueling heats. Ken Brinker won a fourth place medal for a 7.7 effort in the high hurdles. John Cabiati jumped 6'6" in the high jump, good for 6th place.

State's Ray Smith suffered the great misfortune of getting stomach cramps while leading the field in the invitational two mile. He was forced to withdraw from the race.

Schurko was the only State performer to place in the invitational portion of the meet.

Penn State coach John Lucas called the Friday spectacular "the finest indoor track meet I have ever seen."

Four Quick Blades

Buffalo featured four premier fencers, who went unbeaten in their twelve bouts. However, the Bulls' bench wasn't strong enough to provide the supporting wins needed for the triumph. "Four exceptional fencers were defeated by a team of nine good fencers," said Lion coach Dick Klima. "They had the stars, but we had the depth to overcome their stars."

If the weekend proved anything, it was that the undefeated epee squad (6-0) is probably the best to represent State in recent years, as it handily unseated the Bulls' strong epeeists, 6-3. As it turned out, this was the key to the match as sabre barely had enough fuel to pull out a 5-4 win, upping its season mark to 5-1.

The foilers didn't do too badly as they lost 6-3 to the Bulls' strong foilers.

Swimmers Lose, 73-40, But Set More Records

By DICK ZELLER
Collegian Sports Writer

Last Saturday's trip to Syracuse turned out to be just another learning experience for the Penn State swimmers as the Orange dominated the meet by a 73-40 score.

As usual, the day brought many new school records for the young Lion squad. The 400-yard medley relay started off the record parade with a 4:14.8. The team of Brian Kudis, John Oleyar, Bill Moser and Gene Weber smashed the old mark of 4:19.4.

With Kudis, Oleyar and Weber on the team for the first time, and Moser turning in a 1:04 fly, the team had an entirely new look. Moser usually concentrates his efforts on the backstroke, but according to Coach Lou MacNeill, he's also the best butterfly man on the team.

Manning Goes Wild

Ron Manning went wild in the one-meter diving event, spiraling through the six dives with 171.30 and a win. The old record was 156.75, set by Manning against Pitt.

Liken came through with 128.05 for his best total of the season and a third place.

The 1,000-yard freestyle was won quite easily by Syracuse's Schwartz, with an 11:21. Erich Mehnert pulled out second place with 12:15, well off his best time.

Don Rea struggled through the marathon event in 12:58—nothing to cheer about—but still 19 seconds under his previous low time.

In the 200-yard freestyle, the real contest was between second and third as Schacht won the event for the Orange in 1:56.7.

Frank Vinzant took second place with a 2:15 and Alex Deveney turned in a 2:21 for the State cause.

Things really started to get poor in the 50-yard freestyle. Conrad entered the event for State and a repeat of his :24.1 record would have won the event. Conrad slipped to :25.0, however, and finished behind Jeff Pearson at :24.8 to give State a 3-4 finish. Stein won the event in a mediocre :24.6 for Syracuse.

Things couldn't get much worse, and after placing 2-3 behind Syracuse's only entry in the 200 individual medley, the Lions returned to the business of record-setting. In the three meter diving, Bob Liken came through with his best performance of the year and lifted the record from teammate Manning with a 141.05. Syracuse was not dazed by the astronomical figure as Keck compiled 188.80 and Williams captured second place.

Recapturing Record

Jeff Eisenstadt recaptured the 200-yard butterfly record from Charles Gale with a 2:45.6. Gale finished slightly behind and Orangeman Flanagan ended up far out in front with a 2:08.8.

An assault on the 100 freestyle record failed as the 1950 mark withstood the efforts of Weber and Burkett. Weber turned in the better time, :55.1, but only managed a second.

The 200 back offered no surprises as Moser gave the best State effort and finished 19 seconds behind the leader.

Mehnert pulled out another second with a 5:46.1 in the 500 free, only two seconds off his school record. Schwartz won the event with a 5:37.1. Jim Loudon paddled in a lethargic 7:11.0, far behind anyone else in the event.

Gymnasts, Wrestlers Crush Syracuse

Undeclared G-Men Not Even Pressed

Lion Matmen Flatten Orange By 34-5 for Fifth Victory

By DAVID NEVINS

Collegian Sports Writer

Some of the scores recorded by the Syracuse gymnasts in last Saturday's gym meet sounded more like their all-university averages than gym scores. Scores like 2.75 and 2.90 sound pretty good for grades but are equivalent to academic probation in the gymnastics world.

One of the Syracuse performers couldn't even manage a score that sounded decent in the academic world as he registered a 0.00 on the long horse. He received this distinction when he performed two vaults that were exactly alike, resulting in an automatic disqualification.

All this added up to what was more of an exhibition by State's talented gymnasts rather than a dual meet. Even though the Lions seemed invincible in slaughtering the Orangemen, 185-30-120.15, they still lacked the consistency to break the 190-point total. This lack of consistency could be costly next week in the crucial meet of the season against undefeated Temple. The Lions are 5-0.

High Risk

One reason for State's inconsistency was the high degree of risk in many of the routines. Dick Swetman only received an 8.90 on the parallel bars for one of the most difficult routines around. He lost as much as .5 of a point when he had trouble during a handstand coming from a back somersault.

Bob Emery had similar problems as he registered a 9.10 on the parallel bars, and the routine contained a dismount never performed by anyone in the world. Although he did complete the dismount successfully, he tripped on the mat coming out of it to cause a point reduction. Had he performed a less spectacular dismount perfectly he would have registered a higher score.

In one of the best routines of the meet, Joe Litow received a 9.35 on the horizontal bar. While this score is nothing to complain about, he probably could have received an additional .2 or .3 of a point if he had not attempted a unique and risky dismount.

Vexler Beaten

After four weeks of undefeated performances on the still rings and long horse, specialist Paul Vexler fell from the undefeated ranks. In scoring a 9.1 in the vaulting, Vexler fell short of his usual 9.50. Although the fans thought he deserved a better score, Vexler had contrary feelings. "I didn't get a big enough hop to get a really good score," Vexler said. "The bad hop caused my free flight to be a lot lower than usual."

Vexler proved to be as consistent as ever on the still rings, as he won the event with a 9.50. Even the Syracuse gymnasts were impressed, giving him a standing ovation. Ironically, though Vexler did get a 9.50, he had to change his dismount in the middle of the routine because he had tired himself out.

The Lions next meet will be Saturday at Temple where they battle for the championship of the Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastics League.

Killy, Kidd Star

GRENOBLE, France (AP)—United States skiers regained some of their lost glory yesterday while Jean-Claude Killy, France's king of the hills, captured another crown in his race toward an Alpine sweep in the Winter Olympics.

Killy, the 24-year-old world champion who won the downhill race last week, added the giant slalom to his growing gold medal chain with a second-place run of 1:46.54 for a combined time of 3:29.28 and an easy victory.

Only One More He now needs only a triumph in the special slalom Friday and Saturday to become the second man in history to win all three races.

His victory Monday was fully expected, leaving the day's most stunning showing to America's Billy Kidd.

Kidd of Stowe, Vt., a silver medal winner at Innsbruck four years ago and plagued by injuries since, outdid even the great Killy on the second heat as he blistered the 57-gate, 1,780-meter course in 1:46.46, the fastest clocking of the day. His performance moved him from eighth to fifth place with a combined time of 3:32.37, still out of the medals but reviving U.S. hopes in the special slalom.

Heuga Falls

Teammate Jim Heuga of Squaw Valley, Calif., a bronze medal winner in 1964, fell from seventh to 10th with a time of 1:48.43 for 3:33.89.

Kidd easily was the highlight of the day for the United States. Jeanne Ashworth of Wilmington, N.Y., managed only a 10th place behind winner Johanna Schut of The Netherlands in the women's 3,000-meter speed skating and the best American finish was 27th in the biathlon, won by Norway's Magnar Solberg.

The U.S. hockey team scored its first victory after four losses by trouncing West Germany 8-1. The Americans broke open a close game by scoring four goals in the last 10 minutes of the second period.

BILLY KIDD ... moves to fifth

Czechoslovakia and Sweden pulled into a first place with idle Russia with victories for 4-0 records. The Czechs walloped East Germany 10-3, and Sweden topped Finland 5-1.

Killy, a ski shop owner who attacks the slopes with a flare of reckless daring, said he did not worry about winning Monday's race after building a 1.2-second lead over Willy Favre of Switzerland by winning the first heat Sunday. He still increased his victory margin over Favre to 2.22 seconds by turning in the second fastest time of the day.

Afterward, mobbed by his adoring countrymen, he expressed confidence that he could equal the triple of Austria's Toni Sailer in 1966.

By PAUL LEVINE

Collegian Sports Editor

It had not been an easy week for Bill Koll.

Things began badly for Penn State's wrestling coach and then got progressively worse. It wasn't bad enough that he was nabbed by a local constable for going the wrong way on a one-way street. And it wasn't the worst thing in the world when he buttoned his shirt, donned his sport coat and headed for Harrisburg without putting on his tie. But when he suffered a second degree burn in the process of lighting a cigar, Bill Koll sensed that something was amiss.

"Everything was going so badly that I was worried Syracuse would upset us," Koll said, remembering how the pack of matches exploded in his hands.

The worries were unfounded, however, as the Lions chased Syracuse all over the mat and flattened the Orangemen, 34-5 in Rec Hall Saturday.

State started early en route to its fifth victory as the first four Lion wrestlers compiled a 16-0 lead.

Sophomore Bruce Balmat registered his third victory of the season with a 4-3 decision over Joe Palmieri at 123 pounds and the Lions were on their way.

Veterans Wally Clark and Dave Spinda raised their records to 5-1 as each recorded pins. Clark, at 130 pounds, was in full control with an 8-2 lead when he flattened Ken Peters at 6:43 of the match. It took Spinda even less time to deck Alan Heugh. After scoring an early takedown, Spinda began the second period in control. Using a Princeton arm bar, Spinda turned over Heugh and referee Salvatore Spinelli slapped the mat only 20 seconds after he had whistled in the period.

Hectic Day

Heugh's brief look at the Rec Hall lights marked the end of a rather hectic day for the Syracuse athlete. Originally, a member of the gymnastics team, Heugh filled in for double-duty Saturday, as he competed in both the gym meet and wrestling match.

His performances in each, however, received less than rave reviews. Competing in a losing cause in the afternoon, Heugh scored 2.90 on the trampoline and 6.80 on the rings. Heugh's friends didn't fare much better Saturday night.

The Orangemen's John Terboss at 145 pounds, suffered the humiliation of ending on the short end of a 15-2 score. It was the Lions' Vince Fitz who administered the thrashing, but he had a little help from Terboss, who seemed intent on doing anything to avoid being pinned. As it turned out, Terboss did nothing, and Fitz was awarded a total of four points in stalling penalties.

The Lions' only loss came at 152 pounds when senior Tom Hostetter, wrestling two notches above his weight class, was decisively 9-3 by Eric Greenberg. It was Hostetter's first match of the year.

Bob Abraham got State back on the winning track at 160 pounds with a 5-3 victory over Ken Haynes. The win evened Abraham's season record at 3-3.

Singles Out Abe

"If I had to single out an outstanding performance tonight, I would have to mention Abraham," Koll said. "He's been down lately after losing a couple, and now it looks like he's on his way back."

At 167 pounds, the Lions' Matt Kline raised his record to 5-1, but may have ended the evening as the most frustrated wrestler on either team. For the better part of three periods, Kline pushed, dragged and rode Orangeman Jim Rosell around the mat. Kline wanted his third pin of the season, but Rosell was satisfied to sprawl flat and be ground face down into the mat. After one warning, one single point penalty, and a pair of two-point penalties, Spinelli disqualified Rosell and awarded five points to Penn State.

First He's Ever Seen

"That was the first time I've ever seen a wrestler disqualified for stalling," Koll said afterwards. "But it was a good call. It's up to the referee to make him wrestle. If the guy won't wrestle, he should be disqualified."

At 177 pounds, Bob Funk failed to keep his victory string alive but avoided losing by hanging on for a 5-5 tie with Bob Rust.

Rich Lorenzo raised his season mark to 5-0 as he outlasted Lee Castner, 4-1. Syracuse, now 1-6 on the year, forfeited the heavyweight bout.

The Lions (5-1) swing back into action Saturday night as they entertain powerful Navy. The Midshipmen (7-0) have already defeated Lehigh and last Saturday pounded Maryland, 26-8. Meanwhile, Lehigh, the Lions' opponents on Feb. 28, lost its fourth match of the year, being drubbed by Army, 21-13.

Wrestling Stats

123—Balmat, State, dec. Palmieri, 4-3.
130—Clark, State, pinned Peters, 6:43.

177—Funk, State, and Rust, Syracuse, drew, 5-5.
Wt.—Lorenzo, State, dec. Castner, 4-1.
Hwt.—Hollackers, State, won by forfeit.

Swimmers Lose To Syracuse

Oleyar finally injected a little spirit into the sagging Lions by winning the 200-yard breaststroke. His 2:34.0 tied the school record for the event. Yarema glided into the deck at 2:38 to capture third place.

The 400 free relay would have needed a miracle to catch the Syracuse quartet's 3:34.6. As it turned out, the Lion foursome could not even equal their previous best of 3:39.6, ending the race at 3:41.

It certainly was not one of State's more impressive efforts. Syracuse entered its second best swimmers in most of the events and often only entered one contestant, giving its guests automatic second and third places.

Coach MacNeill considers the 'most important part of the meet the competition between the State swimmers. Feeling outclassed by about every team in the country,

MacNeill figures his swimmers have to be concerned with improving their personal times and ignore the competition.

Tomorrow, the Lions get to ignore some of the best competition in the country as they travel to the University of Maryland.

Despite Negro Boycott Meet a Near Sellout

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Athletic Club indoor track meet this Friday, which is being boycotted by most Negro athletes, is almost a sellout, the meet director said yesterday.

The meet, first to be held in the luxurious new Madison Square Garden, will be picketed by groups who say the NYAC discriminates against Negroes and Jews in its membership policies.

Despite this, all but about 1,000 of the 17,800 available tickets have been sold, said Ray Lummpp, the meet director. Still to be determined is exactly how many athletes will cross the picket line that may itself have some track stars. Harry Edwards, the San Jose State teacher who helped organize the boycott, is due here later in the week to oversee the operation.

Lee Evans, star quarter-miler for San Jose State, said last week he expects 1,200 pickets at the meet.

Lummpp distributed a final list of entrants Monday, and it contained several Negro stars, including Southern California's star hurdler Earl McCulloch; his teammate, sprinter Lennox Miller, and long jumpers Ralph Boston, Jerry Proctor and Bob Beamon.

Last Friday at the U.S. Track and Field Federation meet, however, McCulloch made it clear he had no intention of competing in the meet and it seems unlikely that many Negroes, if any, will be there.

GRENOBLE, France (AP)—Peggy Fleming's Olympic gold medal in ladies' figure skating apparently isn't in jeopardy because of unconfirmed reports that she plans to turn professional.

After she had won the Olympic competition Saturday night, it was reported she probably would sign a $500,000 contract with a touring ice show. Both Peggy and her mother, Mrs. Doris Fleming, denied it.

Officials Thwart Lions' Inactivity

By RON KOLB
Assistant Sports Editor

The 1966-67 basketball season should be remembered as the year of the stall. The last year, that is. And repercussions of the decision that resulted are still being laughed at.

Back in the good old days, the only way a weak team could compete on the same floor with a powerhouse was to stall the game down. Southern Cal did it against UCLA and lost by two points. Scores in the 20's became almost commonplace, and the big bosses of those powerhouses didn't like it.

The controversy went to the NCAA Rules Committee, and on one respect the aristocrats agreed—slow must go. Roughly, the new rule stated that if a player, while closely guarded, does not get rid of the ball or make an active move toward the basket within five seconds, a jump ball will be called. It even prescribed a certain area, within five feet of midcourt, in which such violation would be called.

Stall is Obsolete

The law of slow-down tactics obsolete. Stall-ball was a thing of the past. Basketball became a game of speed and constant movement. Little did the NCAA kings know that their excursion into authoritarianism would decide the outcome of close games.

The scene was Annapolis, Md. last Saturday in the Naval Academy Field House. Navy led, 65-64 with 26 seconds left to play and Penn State in possession. Captain Jeff Persson handled the ball, his defender six feet away. Persson wandered into the taboo area out at midcourt, getting ready to set up a drive with eight seconds left.

"Stall," screamed the Midgies on the bench. "Insufficient action," shouted the official as he called a jump ball. Navy got the tap, let the clock run out and celebrated an exciting win.

That's Odd

Meanwhile, everyone on the Penn State bench was trying to figure out why Persson would have wanted to stall with eight seconds left, even if it were a rout. Sure, he was waiting for the last shot, but to hold down the score on a powerhouse was not his motive.

"The call was correct," coach John Egli said, but he wasn't respecting the referee's judgment by any means. He added, "It's just that the call should have been made six or seven other times in the game, and it really looked bad when it finally was called."

"Besides, it's a poor rule," Egli said, and in this case, he was probably right.

Yet the coach refused to pin the blame on just one decision by the officials, whom he said "called the best game there at Navy that I've seen in years."

He rather cited his own players' apathetic attitude to the entire trip.

"I felt after we won the Syracuse game that these boys wanted to win enough to discipline themselves," Egli said. "But instead they became self-satisfied. They didn't make up their minds that they wanted to win. It seemed they almost felt they were playing just because they had to."

And he added one more comment to the fire. "We didn't lose that game in the last eight seconds," he said. "We lost it in the first six minutes, and on the fourth minute."

That opening phase he referred to was a barren period for the Lions. They managed only one foul shot and fell behind, 8-1. State bounced back later to take a 16-12 lead, one that held for the great portion of the game. Then Navy's John Tomlie, who scored 21 points, tied the game at 62 with 3.42 left.

Stanfield Ties

Guard Hugh Kilmartin put the Midgies ahead a minute later with a pair of free throws, and with 1:39 to go, PSU's Bill Stanfield hit a jumper to tie it again, 64-64. Navy controlled the ball until, with 31 seconds left, Lion Bill Young was charged with a foul. ("It is time before the foul occurred, and after the whistle, the foul wasn't committed anyway," Egli recalled.)

Middle Hank Schmidt made the first shot of a one-and-one, but the second went into Persson's hands, and he called time, setting up the 26-second finale.

Though Penn State faltered, it was one of Persson's greatest games. The 6-3 senior became the fifth player in State history to pass the 1,000-point mark (he now has 1,021), joining Jesse Arnell, Mark DuMars, Carver Clinton and Bob Weiss in that category.

In addition, Persson topped both teams in rebounding for the second straight game, hit 9 of 12 shots from the floor (one was a desperation shot at the half) and led both squads with 22 points. Ironically, it was his move that ultimately decided the outcome of the game.

"Jimmy Linden cut parallel to the basket and was free for a turn-around jumper," Egli said. "But Jeff just didn't get it to him and the official made that call."

So what happens? Persson gets chosen on the ECAC All-East squad of the week, and rightly so. Meanwhile, the NCAA Rules Committee gets more documents of proof that its laws and policies get funnier every day.

SOPHOMORE DICK SWETMAN swings high on the horizontal bar in last Saturday's gymnastics meet. The Lion star scored 9.30 on the event, ordinarily a good enough mark to win. This time, however, he was outdistanced by two other Lion competitors, Bob Emery who scored 9.45 and Joe Litow who managed a 9.35. Swetman, also competed on the side horse and parallel bars where he scored identical 8.90 scores.

Cadets Top State

night action, they were fatigued and flat. But despite the strain of travel and competition on two straight nights, the Lions gave the Cadets a battle before succumbing.

"We made Army fully aware that we were on the track," said Lucas. "In every single event we gave 100 per cent."

Despite the effort, State was beaten by the much more experienced Cadets. The Army track team is now undefeated in eight meets this season.

State's only winner in the running events was Smith, who recovered from his stomach ailments in time to run the two-mile in 9:07.8, a time just .8 of a second off the Penn State record.

Charlie Hull took second place in the 60 yard dash, running the best race of his career. A very fatigued Bob Beam finished third.

Steve Calhoun won State's only other second place in the track events in the 600 yard run.

State fared somewhat better against Army's powerful field event team. Chip Rockwell won both the broad jump and the triple jump and John Cabiati took home first place honors in the high jump.

Rockwell's winning effort in the long jump was 23'1". Sophomore Ray Blinn placed third for State.

Cabiati won the high jump with a just-average leap of 6'5". He has gone as high as 6'8" indoors.

The Lion freshman team also lost by an 84-34 score, but its distance runners completely dominated the opposition.

"We ran the plagues right into the ground in the distance events," said Lucas.

Schurko captured the mile in 4:15.8 and Jim Miller placed second for State.

The two-mile team won in eight minutes flat, just one second off the State record. Schurko anchored that effort with a half-mile run of 1:55.

The Lions' indoor record now stands at 1-1. This weekend the team travels to Annapolis to meet powerful Navy. But nothing for the rest of the year will match the colorful and exhaustive events of the past weekend.
