Enemy Criticizes Nixon's Peace Plan

PARIS — North Vietnamese and Viet Cong representatives sharply criticized President Nixon's eight-point peace plan yesterday but Americans noted a slight change in atmosphere and some observers expressed belief that the Vietnam talks may have reached a turning point.

Both the Hanoi and National Liberation Front delegations agreed to continue studying the Nixon proposals.

It was obvious from comments at the 17th full-scale session of the talks that the two sides remained far apart on key issues. But Harold Kaplan, the U.S. delegation spokesman, said the meeting contrasted agreeably with some previous sessions. He described the meeting, which lasted 3 hours and 55 minutes as "relatively moderate and lacking in vindictiveness of tone."

Enemy Fights Despite Air Offensive

SAIGON — Withering air strikes stripped most of the jungle growth from a 3,000-foot mountain near Laos yesterday but North Vietnamese entrenched there fought on, apparently determined to defend the vital position to the east.

Attacking 101st Airborne Division paratroopers claimed more than 100 enemy killed, most of them in the fighting for Dong Ap Bia Mountain since operation Apache Snow began seven days ago in the north with one of the war's biggest helicopter assaults.

Unable to budge the North Vietnamese from well-constructed bunkers, the paratroopers called in air blows that began denuding the mountainside.

Instruments Fail On Soviet Spaceship

MOSCOW — The unmanned Soviet spaceship Venus 5 completed a 130-day flight to Venus yesterday but apparently failed to reach the planet's torrid surface with transmitters still operating.

An official announcement said the space ship's instrument capsule made a slow descent by parachute through the atmosphere and sent messages back to earth for 33 minutes. But it did not claim that the capsule landed with instruments still working.

Soviet scientists apparently were being cautious about repeating claims made for Venus 4 on Oct. 18, 1967. At that time they said the space ship had made a soft landing and had transmitted information for 96 minutes until it reached the surface.

Roosevelt Stabbed in 'Family Quarrel'

GENEVA — Franklin D. Roosevelt's oldest son, James, was stabbed in the back at his villa here in what Swiss police described Friday as a "family quarrel."

The 61-year-old executive and former diplomat was rushed in a police ambulance to a hospital where he was resting comfortably following emergency surgery.

His wife, Gladys, 47, was taken to a psychiatric clinic after the Thursday night incident.

No charges were preferred.

"At this time, it is a medical case," commented a police official who declined to identify the assailant.

The incident came a week after divorce proceedings, initiated by the balding, bespectacled Roosevelt, started before a Geneva court.

The Nation

Congressman Defends Military Spending

WASHINGTON — House Armed Services Chairman L. Mendel Rivers, offended by allegations that his committee is soft on Pentagon spending, has challenged a fellow congressman to defend his views before the panel.

The object of Rivers' anger is Rep. William S. Moorhead, D-Pa., who has spotlighted cost increases for the CSA supersonic transport and contract details for the ill-starred F111 fighter-bomber.

Moorhead has charged both in speeches and on television that Congress at present is incapable of keeping a tight rein on military spending.

Rivers, a South Carolina Democrat, said he considered this a personal condemnation. "Under the circumstances, I have no alternative but to invite you to appear before the committee to present whatever evidence you may have to substantiate your allegations," Rivers wrote.

Laird Sees No Drop in Defense Budget

CHICAGO — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird told the nation yesterday not to expect drastic cuts in military spending after the Vietnam war because "a drastically reduced defense budget will not provide adequate national security in the world in which we live."

"Even if we eliminate cost over-runs, improve our cost estimates, cut out the unnecessary items and keep our systems simple, we are not going to come up with a low defense budget," Laird said.

"No, even if we are successful in eliminating the war in Vietnam — our highest priority — we are still not going to come up with a drastically reduced defense budget... under presently foreseeable circumstances."

Laird made the comments in an Armed Forces Day speech prepared for the Military Order of the World Wars.

Soaring Medicare Fees Under Review

WASHINGTON — Doctors are facing rising criticism in Congress over rich paychecks from the medicare and Medicaid programs they once fought so bitterly.

The Senate Finance Committee is checking on the soaring costs of the medicare and Medicaid.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., said at least 5,000 physicians throughout the nation received $25,000 or more last year from the medicare program for the elderly.

He said the list of doctors, dentists and others above the same level in the medicare program for the poor runs into thousands, with names still pouring in.

Black Leader Decries Racial Separation

PHILADELPHIA — Black militants are wrong when they claim wide-based Negro support for separation, the executive director of the National Urban League said yesterday.

Whitney Young spoke to 1,500 representatives of private welfare agencies meeting in Philadelphia.

Blacks considered themselves as Americans first, regardless of what black militants say, Young said.

Blame for campus disorders falls on whites, not blacks, Young said, adding that whites are deluding themselves if they think the majority of youths behind the demonstrations — both on and off the campuses — are black.

"Negroes are not necessarily and basically violent," Young said.

Carnival, Rally, Olympics Today

Spring Week Continues

The Spring Week carnival opened last night and will continue from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. today and from 7:30 p.m. to midnight, Tuesday.

The fairgrounds are located on the Intramural Field directly west of Beaver Stadium.

The Fun Rally will begin at 9:30 a.m. today from Parking Lot H. It is designed to be an easy rally course on which driver-navigator teams will test their skill.

Shortly after 9:30 a.m. today, the Gymkhana will start in Parking Lot 80. The Gymkhana is an obstacle race for sports cars and sedans. The cars are divided into three classes according to the size of their engines.

The Fun Olympics will start at 2 p.m. this afternoon at Wagner Field next to East Falls.

Five events will be included: "Two Blind Mice," "Gulliver's Travels," "Romper Room," "Baby Huey Race" and "Beauty and the Beast."

Only half of the carnival tents will be open this afternoon. The first group of tents will be giving their skits from 2 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. The rest will perform from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Also a part of the carnival are amusement rides including ferris wheels, a merry-go-round and scramblers. Refreshment stands are selling popcorn, candy apples and snow cones.

The State College Little German Band will perform on the carnival grounds from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Orphans and foster children will be brought to the carnival this afternoon. The project is being sponsored by the Panhellenic Council.

Each child will be accompanied by a sorority member for the day. After the carnival the children will be the guests of Pi Kappa Phi fraternity for dinner.

The evening carnival will be followed by a jammy from 11:30 p.m. until 3 a.m. in Shields parking lot. The jammy is sponsored by East Falls Council in cooperation with the Spring Week Committee.

The He-man finals will be at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow in Beaver Stadium.

Spring Week will end with the Awards Night concert and trophy presentations at 7:30 Monday night. Comedian Flip Wilson and the Darker Side rock group will perform.

Powell Speaks on Black Power Criticizes Anti-Dissent Law; Discusses 'Revolution'

By MIKE WOLK
Collegian Staff Writer

"I will personally serve an injunction against action taken by any university president who revokes any student's scholarship resulting from that student's participation in student dissent. Such action is unconstitutional, and my lawyers back me on this," said Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, (D-N.Y.) who spoke at Rec Hall last night on "Black Power, the Student Revolution, and the Right to Dissent."

Powell defined black power as black self-sufficiency, and said that it is not violent unless "whites make it violent."

"Black Power is not black racism. There is room for whites in the black revolution, but not in top positions. When other organized ethnic groups admit blacks to top administrative levels, blacks will follow," he added.

Powell called for an immediate withdrawal from the Vietnam War. He said that instead of "saving face" by staying in Vietnam, we should "save our boy's lives."

He suggested that the American government use "Vietnam money" for development of Appalachia and its poor whites and into programs to aid ghetto youth, such as Project Head Start, and Uplift.

"Positive Change"
As definite steps toward bringing "positive change to a sick society," Powell said he hopes to interest people such as Sen. Ted Kennedy, (D-Mass.) in "restructuring the entire Democratic party to appeal to the needs of the times, or to form a new party entirely."

Powell's proposal received applause from the audience of about 300.

He also said he will conduct a telephone conference next week with leaders of black student organizations on all of the nation's campuses "to organize a national black student union, effectively operating by next fall."

Powell called for black studies programs on every college campus "to create self-knowledge and self-pride."

A brief question and answer period followed Powell's address. Powell, actress Ruby Dee and Shirley Jones, professor of sociology at

New York University, answered audience questions. Following the session, whites left Rec Hall, and Miss Jones addressed the remaining black audience.

In answering a student question, Powell said, "as of midnight Friday, I am no longer a candidate for mayor of New York City." Powell entered the race last Sunday, and attributed reasons for his withdrawal as "personal."

Last night's speakers appeared as part of the Black Student Union's Black Arts Festival, which will run until Sunday.

About 150 students admitted under the University's new admissions program to aid economically deprived students attended the program and will remain for the weekend to participate in the festival and sample college life.

Participants in the festival from urban area number from 500 to 700, according to Dave Harris, Black Student Union publicity chairman.

Excellent Response
BSU members are pleased with an "excellent response" to the festival from the University community and term it a success. The purpose of the program is to "educate whites on black culture, and to unify the black community at this University."

Preceding Powell's address was a program of dramatic readings by Miss Dee. The readings included interpretation of a poem entitled, "For My People," a statement of black attitude and definition. Other readings also stressed pride in identity and the black perspective.

Today's festival events take place at 7 tonight in Rec Hall. The program consists of a concert by the Arthur Hall African Dance Ensemble; The Freedom Theater, a drama group from Philadelphia specializing in "social revolutionary themes and approaches"; and the Original Slaves, a gospel-spiritual group.

At 1 p.m. tomorrow in Rec Hall, bluesman Muddy Waters and the Michael Olatunji African Drum Troupe will present concert.

The final event of the week-long festival, are speeches by educators Playthell Benjamin, and John Churchville. The program will take place at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Hetzel Union Building Ballroom.

Mission Director OK's Apollo 10 Preparations

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. — The Apollo 10 mission director yesterday gave the launch crew the go-ahead to begin final preparations for rocketing three astronauts tomorrow toward an orbit around the moon.

Following a 2 1/2-hour briefing, Director George Hage reported all aspects of the mission were ready. He received reports on the astronauts, Saturn 5 rocket, spaceship, flight operations, recovery forces and weather.

The three astronauts honed their skills in spaceship trainers, practicing how to escape in case the Saturn 5 should develop trouble during the launch phase.

Astronaut Donald K. Slayton, director of flight crew operations, reported the spacemen were in good shape and anxious to start their eight-day lunar voyage.

Meanwhile, launch preparations were running ahead of schedule.

Wearing their space suits for the last time before launch day, Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdr. John W. Young spent several hours inside a trainer spaceship practicing rapid actions they would have to take if their Saturn 5 booster rocket misfires during launch.

During the first three minutes of flight, the astronauts would trigger an escape rocket atop their cone-shaped moonship to jork the spacecraft away from an exploding rocket. After the escape rocket is jettisoned at about the three-minute mark, the pilots would trigger their main spacecraft trigger.

The third Apollo 10 pilot, Navy Cmdr. Eugene A. Cernan, rehearsed in a lunar module LEM trainer to sharpen his familiarity with the craft's systems.

"It's definitely the riskiest of any mission put together, and the only one that will be more risky is the actual landing itself," Stafford said.

Twice during the eight-day Apollo 10 flight, Stafford and Cernan are to zip in a LEM landing craft to choose the intended site where two Apollo 11 astronauts are to land July 20.

During the eight-hour period Stafford and Cernan are flying the LEM, Young will circle the moon alone in the Apollo 10 command ship.

Weathermen continued to predict favorable conditions for launch day, with partly cloudy skies and light surface winds.

Qualified Support of USG Vigil

SDS Passes Vietnam Paper

By ROB McHUGH
Collegian Staff Writer

Students for a Democratic Society last night passed a position paper concerning the Vietnam War and the upcoming Undergraduate Student Government fast and vigil protesting the war.

The two-week vigil originally was called for in a resolution co-sponsored by ten members of SDS, including President Ted Thompson. The vigil is set to begin at 1 p.m. tomorrow.

The SDS statement begins, "While fully supporting USG in its sincere opposition to the Vietnam War, SDS feels it is necessary to set forth its own position on that war."

It also expresses the hope that "frank discussion of our differences will enhance, not impede, our united effort to halt United States aggression in Vietnam and around the world."

'American Dream'

The original USG resolution calls post-war American foreign policy a negation of the American Dream.

Referring to this, the SDS paper states: "To our view, this analysis ignores the most essential fact of American history: that our country, from its founding to the present day, was never democratic in any genuine sense; that our history has always been characterized by a deep division between the small group of men who control the economic and political power of our nation in their own interest and the vast majority of the American people whose best interests have never been represented by those in power."

According to the statement, "The vicious war now being waged against the people in Vietnam, the government's support of apartheid in South Africa and of Fascism in Spain are a continuation of the policies of the ruling class, not, as USG seems to believe, an exception to the rule."

'Fruitless Undertaking'

The paper states: "If USG, by its vigil and fast, hopes to arouse the conscience of the ruling class in order to bring about change, we must point out that this is a fruitless undertaking. At this stage in history, men's concrete interests outweigh moral abstractions. If USG hopes to arouse public conscience to abandon the war effort and vote the war makers out of power, again this is a forlorn hope. Classes are not voted away, but defeated in determined struggle."

The paper continues: "While USG fasts and bears moral witness to the suffering of countless Vietnamese and Americans, many of the operations which allow that war to continue are still being conducted with impunity on this campus. Military research goes on torpedoes are tested daily and the military proceeds to recruit and train its officers."

"The fast and vigil might help to dramatize opposition to the war, but (will do) precious little to build a real struggle against those operations which make it possible. It is only by pointing to the real enemy, challenging that enemy on his own ground and there contesting his right to rule that the fight for human liberation will be waged and won."

Author Ralph Nader To Give Colloquy Keynote Address

Ralph Nader, the author of "Unsafe at Any Speed" and a crusader for consumer protection, will present the keynote speech for Colloquy at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Rec Hall.

Nader was instrumental in bringing about many of the changes in the automobile industry to produce safer cars and reduce highway deaths. He has worked on legal problems and policies, both legislative and judicial, of highway safety and automobile design. He also serves as a consultant and contributor to many legal publications.

During an investigation of the automobile industry, Nader discovered what he considered an "appalling tolerance on the part of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration." In his best-seller, "Unsafe at Any Speed," he stresses that with the present technological potential and economic capability to build safer cars, unsafe autos pose a professional challenge to the legal, medical and engineering professions.

These people, Nader asserts, have the responsibility not just to apply their optimum skills to the problems but to work for the elimination of the problems whenever possible.

Nader received his A.B. from Princeton University in 1955 and his L.L.B. in 1958 from Harvard Law School. He was a research assistant at Harvard Law School from 1955-59, and after service in the Army, began to practice law. His articles have appeared in the Atlantic Monthly, The Nation, The New Republic and the Christian Science Monitor.

Stu Silver, Colloquy publicity director, announced that another Colloquy keynote speaker, cartoonist Al Capp, would like University students to submit some questions prior to his talk here, so he can answer some of them in his speech.

According to Silver, special cards will be available at all the residence hall areas and wherever Colloquy tickets are sold. Students are encouraged to write questions on the cards and return them to the Colloquy committee.

Capp is scheduled to speak at 9 p.m. Saturday, May 24, in Rec Hall.

University Advises Students 'Keep Eyes on Textbooks'

University students are advised to keep an eye on their textbooks.

Security personnel at the University reported an increasing number of "lost, strayed, or stolen" textbooks and the appearance of some of them at counters where used books are bought.

While the thefts in past years came near the end of the term, they noted that books now are disappearing throughout the term. The majority of books are taken from dining hall areas, classrooms, and unlocked student rooms.

Students are asked to write their names in the books and to be careful where they place the books.

Annual Blue-White Contest Set Today

Paterno Worried About New Problems; Offensive Line, Defensive Ends Unsure

By DON McKEE
Collegian Sports Editor

Joe Paterno looked weary and drawn, not at all the way a highly successful football coach is expected to look. He had just walked off the field after the last full-scale workout prior to the annual Blue-White game which ends spring practice.

Someone asked, "Well coach, what questions did spring practice answer for you?"

Paterno looked up slowly and laughed. "Answer," he said softly. "You mean, how many questions did it create? Although he's never noted for being an outspoken optimist, Paterno may have grounds for caution. Today's intra-squad game, set for 2 p.m. in Beaver Stadium, may provide some of the answers that the coaching staff has been seeking, but problems still abound and will not be solved in one afternoon.

Offensive Line Problem
The biggest problem, as expected, revolves around the offensive line. Graduation took away the great talents of All-American tight end Ted Kwalick, All-East tackle Dave Bradley, tackle John Kulka and split end Leon Angevine.

At this point, only two empty slots have been filled. Junior Greg Edmonds has had a fine spring at split end, allaying any fears about that position, and senior Tom Jackson, a starter at guard last season, has moved swiftly into one tackle job. Jackson's place has been taken by junior Bob Holuba, a part-time starter there until an injury took him out of the lineup halfway through last season.

The second tackle spot has proven harder to fill. Juniors Ron Pavlechko and Vic Surma currently are dueling for the position. The biggest problem, though, has been at tight end. "It's still wide open," Paterno said. Jim McCord, a junior, and soph Wayne Munson are the pair being tested to fill Kwalick's old spot.

Defensive End
The other position which comes quickly to Paterno when he's asked about problems is defensive end. Senior John Ebersole has been moved from defensive tackle to one spot and looks like a sure starter, but the other end, and the reserve order, are more troublesome.

Dave Rakiecki, listed as a starter, and Doug McArthur, Ebersole's replacement, are both on the injured list or have been on it during the spring. Senior George Kulka and soph Craig Lyle are backup men.

Aside from the ends, the defense looks solid. Paterno lists the linebackers as the strongest area on the team and the unit of All-American Denny Onkotz, Jim Kates, Gary Hull and Jack Ham should be something special.

The defensive secondary of halfbacks

Mike Smith and Paul Johnson and safety Neal Smith returns intact. No worries there, hopefully.

The offensive backfield could be just as explosive as last season's record setting array, if a line can be developed to block for the herd of talented running backs the Lions have captured.

Good Backfield Reserves

All-America hopeful Charlie Pittman (who will not see action today due to an ankle injury) leads a backfield that includes veteran fullback Don Abbey talented halfback Gary Deuel and a host of very good reserves. Soph Lydell Mitchell has been one of the brightest performers of the spring and Charlie Wilson, Fran Ganter, Joel Ramich and Franco Harris give the Lions some depth in hard-running performers.

At the all-important quarterback slot, State appears well set. Last year's two QBs, Chuck Burkhardt and Mike Cooper, have both been healthy and have made such good progress that Paterno confidently said, "The quarterbacks, both quarterbacks, have made the biggest improvement on the team."

Today, Paterno will divide his charges into two evenly matched teams and tell them to go out on the field and enjoy themselves. On Monday, he'll go back to watching the movies and worrying about the problems which spring ball has created.

14 Track Teams Entered

State Holds Invitational

By JAY FINEGAN
Collegian Sports Writer

Sun worshippers who camp out at Beaver Stadium for the duration today will be treated to two spectacles. First, they will study the nation's top flight tribes of amateur headhunters in the Blue-White game. Then, while most folks are having supper or grooming for dates, they'll see the country yokels visit the big city. It might sound like the Beverly Hills, but actually it's a track meet. Twenty Pennsylvania colleges, including small colleges like Clarion State and Lock Haven, will fight it out among themselves. The ideal according to Penn State track coach Harry Gorges, is to find out how the less well-known schools fare against better publicized teams. There are good athletes scattered in tiny culture centers who are rarely heard from simply because they compete against Podunk U. or Slimy Pebble State.

Could Be Success

Gorges, who organized the meet when he first entered the Nittany Valley in the fall, is optimistic about his creation. He set up similar meets while he coached at William and Mary and often the meets drew large paying crowds and more attention than the conference meet.

Smaller Favorites

Among the listed favorites today, several are from smaller schools. West Chester's Lonnie Dalton, who practically pays board to foam pit owners, will take his 6-10 1/2 high jump credentials against State's John Cabiati. Also from the Golden Rams is a 9.7 100-yard man named Bill Krause. George Smith, Allegheny County Community College, travels 49.0 in the 40, as does Robert King. Charley King, another West Chester performer, long jumps 23-9.

Atherton Wins IM Volleyball

The Atherton V.D. intramural volleyball team won 12 straight games to win the graduate title. They defeated the Analysts 15-10, 15-4 in the finals. The team is composed of Hans Kuhr, Ed DeBruin, Don Royer, Jim Swinehart, Abdell Vega, and Lou Churvinak.

and Don Walsh, another freshman from the Emerald Isle, may become part of the day's feature attraction. Walsh and Lion cub Greg Fredericks, make the most talented pair of distance men on the East Coast. At Villanova earlier this spring, Walsh out-chedered Fredericks to win the frosh two mile in 9:16. Both may go in the three mile here today.

Mike Reid is the class of the shot put entrants, as is State's Fred Kingston in the discus. Ken Brinker will be hurdlng.

No team honors will be conferred this year, however, as the meet was scheduled too late to allow whole teams to compete.

Golfers Visit Navy

By JOHN PESOTA
Collegian Sports Writer

You can't blame the members of the Penn State golf team for feeling a little weary these days. The linksmen of Coach Joe Boyle have had a busy week of competition with more to come.

First leg of the hectic schedule was at the Easterns last Saturday. Those members of the squad — Bob Hibschan, Frank Guise, and Nick Raasch — who qualified for individual competition played a gruelling set of matches in addition to the team match.

Right on the heels of the Easterns came the Indiana Invitational Tournament which the Lions captured Wednesday. Boyle felt that fatigue plagued his charges in the tourney. "Our guys were really dragging their heels near the end of the day," Boyle said. "I felt that Hibschan could have won the individual championship if he hadn't been so tired."

With just a day's rest the State linksmen journey this afternoon to Annapolis, Md., for a match against the rugged Midshipmen of Navy. Although the Middies finished only ninth in the Easterns, Boyle has a high regard for their potential. "Navy has a loss to Maryland just as we do," the coach remarked. "But they beat Princeton at Princeton and also defeated Harvard. They'll be tough."

"Any time you play an academy like Army or Navy away from home you know you're in for a tough time," he added.

Top men for the Middies include Eric Utgard, Jim Walters, and Carl Edwards. Boyle is especially impressed with Utgard, who has been a real threat in the past.

No position changes are planned for State. "We'll go with just about the same lineup," Boyle said. "We haven't had much time between tournaments lately to think about any changes." Leading the Lions will be team captain Hibschan who is enjoying a phenomenal year. "Hibber" has a perfect 8-0 slate in meet competition. Forming with Hibschan, the solid nucleus on the team are Tom Apple (5-3), Nick Raasch (5-3) and Frank Guise (6-2). The remainder of the team includes Mack Corbin (6-2), Fred Schultz (6-1) and Andy Noble (5-2).

Last year State beat the Middies here, 6-1. But any repeat of that performance will be doubly difficult this time around. First, the Lions are tired and may not be quite as sharp as they would like. Second, the ever dangerous Navy team will be particularly tough to beat on its home course. It should all add up to an interesting golf match at Annapolis today.

Lions Sure-Handed

Penn State football players have surer hands than the pros, according to statistics released by the NCAA. In a study of the top eight college teams and the top four pro "fumble frequency" and finished second to Orange Bowl foe Kansas in "interception frequency" for 1968.

In 614 rushing plays, the Lions fumbled only 18 times for a 34.1 average, far better than the second place team in the study, the New York Jets, who averaged 25.5 plays per fumble.

State's efficiency was also demonstrated in pass interceptions. Only seven of Chuck Burkhardt and Co.'s 198 passes were picked off by opponents, for a 28.3 passes-per-interception, second only to Kansas' 30.5 average. The Oakland Raiders with 26.9 and the Jets with 22.9 were weak third and fourth place finishers.

State was third in the number of plays per game, according to the NCAA statistics. The Lions averaged 81.2 plays per contest, following Georgia's 85.9 and Ohio State's 84.7. The pro teams were way down the list as none of them ran 70 plays per game.

In a story accompanying the statistics, the NCAA noted that the efficiency of the Lions may have been the main reason for their 10-0 season and the accompanying Orange Bowl win.

'Prince' Seeks Triple Crown

BALTIMORE (AP) — Horsemen hope for a winner in a Triple Crown race, but in the Penn State stables of seven trainers there is a nightmare. Majestic Prince.

"We have hopes of beating Majestic Prince, but they're all slim," Elliott Burch, trainer of Arts and Letters said yesterday.

And there is general agreement with Burch that the seven 3-year olds who will oppose Majestic Prince in today's Preakness, the second leg of the Triple Crown, will have a tough time beating Frank McArthur's Kentucky Derby winner.

Unbeaten Majestic Prince is the solid favorite to make the Preakness his ninth straight victory and move a step closer to becoming the ninth Triple Crown winner. He has won the first since Citation took the Derby, Preakness and Belmont in 1948.

Joining Majestic Prince and Rokeby's Stables' Arts and Letters for the 1 3/16-mile classic at Pimlico will be Top Knight, owned by the estate of Steven B. Wilson; Elmendorf's Captain Action; Pelican Stables Al Hattab; Claiborne Farm's Jay Ray; Michael Phipps' Greengrass Green;
