Government Congress approved last night a bill reapportioning voting areas for congressional elections.

The number of congressmen to be elected from residence halls, fraternities and town will be in the ratio of one representative for every 800 undergraduate students.

Constituent areas also were changed by Congress. In past elections, living areas were divided into separate constituencies so congressmen represented a segment of the area. Now, entire living areas are a single constituency.

The following are the new constituent areas with the number of representatives:

—Center Halls — (Simmons-McElwain, Hartranft Mifflin) — 2

-East Halls - 5

-South Halls - 1 -Pollock and Nittany Halls - 3

-Town - 8

-Fraternities -- 4

Aron Arbittier, USG vice president, submitted the amendment to conform with student sentiment expressed in last Spring Term's USG executive elections. Students favored overwhelmingly a referendum question lowering the representation figure of one congressman for every 2,000 students.

Elections To Be Held Wednesday

The elections for congressmen and freshman class president will be held Wednesday and Thursday. Mike Andrews, an election, commissioner, announced the areas where the voting will be held.

Andrews reminded the candidates that pictures and platforms are to be turned in by noon Monday in 202 HUB.

TIM Council, Realty Firm Concur on Most Problems

In a statement released yesterday, the Town Independent Men's Council commended the Federated Home and Mortgage Co. for "their strides in making improvements in the Beaver Terrace apartments."

The statement was prepared by Joe Myers, Undergraduate Student Government or or gressman, and Jeff Lobb, TIM vice president, after several meetings with Philip Sieg, president of Federated Home and Mortgage Co. concerning the conditions of the Beaver Terrace apartments.

After TIM received numerous complaints from the tenants about the poor living conditions, they circulated a petition of grievances which was signed by 150 tenants.

From the petitions and discussions with the tenants, TiM drafted eight "suggestions for improvement" which they presented to Sieg Sept.

The following is the text of the statement.

Weatherman Demonstrations SDS Decries Actions

The University chapter of the Students for a Democratic Society has "disavowed" itself from the actions that have occurred in the past two days in Chicago, according to Dana Friedman, newly elected co-chairman of SDS.

For the past two days there have been demonstrations in Chicago protesting the trial of eight Yippies charged with inciting riots at the 1968 National Democratic Convention in that city.

Friedman said SDS, at an earlier meeting this fall, voted not to support the "Weatherman" SDS faction in Chicago.

Although a split has occurred in the national SDS, Friedman said the University chapter here "is not going to try to hop into one of the factions. We will formulate our own policies."

SDS issues this fall will be University issues such as militarism, racism and the faculty club. Friedman said the faculty club "ites in with racism at the University because the University "is spending $2 million to build the club when there are other demands that probably have higher priority." He added that a faculty club was not "relevant at this time and would probably be segregated anyway."

added that a faculty club was not "relevant at this time and would probably be segregated anyway."

Friedman also said SDS plans to "reach out" to the community by talking to the "working people of the University and the Centre County region.

"The University isn't for the interests of the working people," he said. "It is for a small elite. There are only a few working men's children here and only a few blacks "

Friedman said SDS will try to implement programs "to make the University more relevant, to try to get more blacks here and maybe include some labor education courses."

Legislative Action Pending On Penn State Appropriations

Uncertainty concerning the University's budget appropriation still exists following Wednesday's session of the State House of Representatives Although $273.6 million in appropriations was passed by a 102 96 vote, action on the University's request for funds will not come until after next week's session, according to Rep. Eugene M. Fulmer, (R. State College).

The Republicans, he said, had proposed a 10 per cent increase over the 1968-69 budgets for the University and the two other tendence of the contractions.

state related universities. Pitt and Temple.

For the University, it would have meant an increase of $5.92 million over last year's budget of $59 million, for a new total of $65 milion.

In addition, a $406 million retirement bill, formerly paid by the Department of Labor and Industry, would be shifted, to the University's total in an auditing procedure

University's total in an auditing procedure change

The present Democratic proposal for the University calls for a grant of $64.5 million and the retirement factor, about $5000,000 less than the GOP proposal.

"The Republican side of the House felt we could incet all immediate needs of the state, including the extra money for Penn State, and still live within a reasonable tax structure." Fulmer said.

"However, efforts to arrive at a bipartisan understanding, with each side of the aisle asked to come up with ideas of how to cut, were unsuccessful. The next more will come when the Democratic leadership attempts to win approval for its remaining money bills next week." he added.

Homecoming Rah, Rah, Rah!

There's the tremendous football game against the Mountaineers on Saturday. A fab jammy Friday night in the HUB Ballroom; and there are motorcades, beauty contests and enough other paraphernalia to make you sick.

The only saving grace is that a black girl has finally broken the unstructured but segregated walls of University tradition and is a finalist for Homecoming Queen.

The Nittany Lions' fifth-place foot-ball ranking is at stake against a high scoring West Virginia team. Thousands of alumni and students will jam Beaver Stadium to (1) watch the game and. (2)

SOME ALUMS will be back on campus for the first time since they graduated. They'll marvel at the new buildings, become awed when they see the great new sundial in front of Old Main, reminisce about beer busts they used to love and notice little change in the number of black faces here.

Some alums also will probably return to their old fraternity or sorority and be slightly amused at the longish hair on some of the students.

campus staring at the freaks and thanking God that they didn't have to live among such filth and that they didn't grow up at a time when the young dropped out in such great numbers. They won't ask any questions.

HOW MANY ALUMS will ask why there are so many long-haired, shabbily dressed freaks around?

How many care about them, other than to condemn them outright?

Just maybe, though, a lot of the alums will have read about Penn State. All graduates must be aware of the demands of the black students and their white sympathizers. And alums also must be aware of the fact that the state is holding up the University's appropriation, thereby denying the admission of many financially disadvantaged students.

IT'S LUDICROUS most of the time, to be critical and derisive just for the sake of mouthing off. But the realization that thousands of alumni will be arriving today and tomorrow for a football game and will leave without the knowledge of anything but the game's score, is totally disheartening.

Football, Vietnam, Life . . . TO THE EDITOR: "We gotta win; we gotta win;

It just isn't true, friends. We need not ever play the game. If we choose to play the game, we need only give it what we believe it deserves. That having been done, the score will take care of itself. At New Beaver Stadium: in Victnam etc. Setting our hearts on scoreboard victories (Dean's list? Greeks Called 'Childish'

TO THE EDITOR: Your article on PSU fraternities opened an issue which has long needed discussion. It is appalling that students can still cling to this archaic and childish tradition which reacts to a university as if it were a country club. It is strange that these organizations are referred to as Greek—the culture of moderation, dedicated learning, and responsibility—when such foolish institutions are the total denial of those values.

The student groups active in political and social problems have critically analyzed most of the institutions of our society, but have consistently ignored fraternities and sororities. It must become apparent to organizations of both the right and left that as long as these unacademic and trivial institutions which mold potential students into apathetic children are allowed to exist, it will be more difficult to solve the problems and retain the higher values of our society.

Choose Your Side

To THE EDITOR: Walt Baginsky in his letter Wednesday defending ROTC completely missed the point. He said the importance of ROTC was not that it insured "the continued strengthening of America's defense posture in an unsafe world." but that its importance was in aiding "an individual's mental growth and development."

Besides ROTC's doubtful ability to stimulate intellectual discussion and questioning, the point is that ROTC's primarily designed and structured to further US foreign policy aims. It is because of this function of ROTC that I oppose it, not because of its doubtful academic quality.

ROTC as a military agency is essentially dedicated to preserving the status quo in the world—a status quo which dooms millions of people to remain in the dire poverty in which they find themselves. The U.S. is dedicated to a nochange policy in the third world because it is economically and politically advantageous for it to do so. This position does not allow the peoples in the 3rd world to achieve political independence and thus start the climb to economic independence and development. We have only to look at the Dominican Rep.. Cuba and Vietnam to see this taking place.

In this world situation one must choose which side one is on—the side of the Western nations taking advantage of the underdeveloped world and pursuing an imperialistic foreign policy or the side of the majority of the people of the world fighting for the rght to eat and attaining the human dignity, which comes from self-determination. Baginsky has chosen the imperialistic nations;

I have chosen, as the Cuban revolutonary song says, "...with the poor people of the world I cast my lot." Which side are you on?

Don't Cry Wolf to the Frosh

Don't Cry Wolf to the Frosh
TO THE EDITOR: The editorial "What Candidates?" which appeared in the Oct. 9 issue of The Daily Collegian is reminiscent in tone of the man who comes to a fire with a hose and yells:
"Why doesn't somebody do something?" Your editorial laments the fact that in three areas there weren't enough candidates to full the designated number of seats on USG. The reason is clear to an "ignorant" freshman.....and that's the point!

The Collegian has the ability to reach more students than any other medium available. If for no other reason than to read Penny Weichel's predictions, people pick up The Collegian. Why hasn't The Collegian published information on how one goes about running for office (i.e. — requirements for nomination, election rules, acceptable means of publicity, etc.)? No one clse has, at least not in any manner which reaches the students in large numbers, and not at all to my knowledge.

Freshmen are at a particular disadvantage.
How are we supposed to elect a class president in any manner which doesn't amount to a farce when no information is sent to us before we come here, and hardly any after we do arrive? I asked a fellow student who was trying to get me to sign a nominating petition how his candidate knew about election procedure. "He found out during summer testing" was the reply. Another told me: "I found out from my brother."

Is this any way to run a University: shrouding

Is this any way to run a University: shrouding the affairs of student government in mystery (unintentionally or otherwise)? You'd better believe it isn't! So, dear editor, don't cry "wolft" (apathy), at least not to freshmen, until you've made an effort of your own.

Czechs Restrict Private Travel to West

PRAGUE — Czechoslovakia barred its citizens from private travel to the West yesterday in the most drastic tightening of frontier control since the 1968 Soviet invasion. The cutoff went into effect at midnight Wednesday and caught hundreds of travelers at airports and frontier crossings and brought dismay to the Czechs and Slovaks. Relatively free travel to the West started even before the ousting of Stalinist Antonin Novotny as president in 1968 and had been one of the 1st freedoms remaining after the Soviet invasion.

Airline and travel officials were informed early yesterday that all exit permits in private passports have been declared invalid, effective immediately.

A sign at police headquarters proclaimed that the passport and exit permit office was closed for the day.

At Prague airport, all Czechoslovak passengers were scratched from all flights to the West, except for those in possession of official passports for official business.

U.S. Casualties in Vietnam Decline

SAIGON — American battlefield deaths in Vietnam last week dropped to 64, the lowest toll in nearly three years, and official sources said yesterday if the downward trend continues President Nixon might be prompted to speed up troop withdray also

At the same time, it was disclosed that U.S. and South Vietnamese forces have pulled out of the once forbidding A Shau Valley, seized last spring after a controversial battle for Hamburger Hill. Lack of enemy activity was given as the reason.

Mathias, who declined to disclose what information he sought, said he will have his vote recorded later.

again.

The committee postponed its vote twice before, last week and again Wednesday after Sen. Robert P. Griffin, the Republican whip from Michigan, publicly joined the opposition to Haynsworth.

Judiciary Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) said it would be at least a week before minority and majority reports could be prepared, a formality necessary before floor debate

Laird Asserts 'Vietnamization' Policy

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laurd said vesterday the U.S military command in Saizon has received new orders covering battlefield operations and placing highest priority on Victnamization of the war.

Show biz? Ad biz? Aerospace? A CPA can be in all of them.

You don't have to play Hamlet to be in show business. Or write hot copy to be in the ad business. Or design moon rockets to be in aerospace.

The CPA has become a key man in virtually every type of enterprise.

Why? Because financial and business affairs require keen minds to come up with new concepts in factgathering, problem-solving and communicating economic information.

So if problems intrigue you, and if you have an aptitude for imaginative, concentrated thinking, you might make a good CPA.

You might work in a public accounting firm, in industry, education or government. Or you may even decide to open a firm of your own.

What other profession offers so many diverse opportunities?

Talk with your faculty adviser. He can tell you about the courses you can take to earn your CPA certificate soon after graduation. Or you might want to do graduate work.

We've prepared a special booklet that tells the whole CPA story. We'll be glad to send it to you. Drop a card or note (mentioning the name of your college) to: Dept. 15, AICPA, 666 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10019.

OSGA Supports 'Year of Black' Collegian Staff Writer

The Organization of Student The Organization of Student Government Associations, representing Commonwealth Campuses, resolved last night in its executive meeting to support the Graduate Student Association's "The Year of the Black Student."

They pledged to assist GSA in any way...to make their year a successful one for the black student."

year a successful one for the black student."

In a resolution submitted by OSGA President Ron Batchelor, OSGA repudiated "parliamentary nothings" and "unnecessary proceedings" of student govern me nt institutions. It pledged instead to address itself to the problems of the Commonwealth Campus students and other student groups and organizations "victimized by our present educational system" by working with other organizations which have specific goals in common.

Batchelor stated that in the past student governments have been overly concerned with the bureaucratic system and with perpetuating themselves.

"Student government has been too 'pro' student government has been too 'pro' student government, and not enough 'pro' the students," he said.

The problems of the new student transfers from Commonwealth Campuses dent transfers from Com-monwealth Campuses were alse discussed.

Plans were made to approach the Director of Food and Housing. Otto E. Mueller. concerning the great numbers of Commonwealth C a m p u stransferees living in temporary housing this fall. They also plan to ask why these students receive only $15 rebate in their housing bills if they remain in temporary housing after the fifth week of the term.

"Let's not kid ourselves." one OSGA representative said.
"They are making money off us."

Several OSGA officers and representatives have visited the various living areas and the various representatives have visited the various living areas and discovered an overwhelming majority of students in temporary housing are transferstudents from the Commonwealth Campuses.

OSGA Resolution In Support of GSA

Too often student governments have concerned themselves with problems of the institution of student organizations, that is consistent after committee, legislation and more parliamentary nothing, leaving the organization "tide up" and incapable of dealing with all-university increase.

"tide up" and incapable of dealing with all-university issues.

The Organization of Student Government Associations must begin to re-evaluate the concept of student government. O.S.G.A. must avoid becoming "hung" on uncessary proceedings that work toward the perpetuance of the "old idea" or "old concept" of student government, but address itself to problems of the university, specifically any issue that affects commonwealth students as well as any student group or organization that is victimized by our present educational system.

Thus in our attempt to "throw away" tradition, we as a group of student leaders must work with other organizations whose aims are common to our own.

The Graduate Student Association has dedicated its entire program toward the problems of black students by announcing the Year of the Black Student.

O.S.G.A. recognizes the problem and will assist G.S.A. in any way that we can to make their year a successful one for the black student.

Court to Rule on Immediate School Integration Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed yester-day to decide whether public schools in Mississippi—and schools in Mississippi—and possibly throughout the South—must be integrated immediately.

The court will rule on an appeal by the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund that downards them mediate. that demands 1 m m e d i a t e desegregation of 22 public schools in 33 M i s s i s s i p p i

The Justice Department had advised the court to reject the appeal or postpone action until desegregation plans were filed with a federal court in Mississippi. By order of the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans these plans are due by and lent an extra measure of urgency to the court's view of the dispute.

The appeal asks the court to discard its "all deliberate speed" formula for school desegregation and to demand immediate abolition of racially identifiable schools across the separate public schools un-constitutional in 1954. In 1955 it constitutional in 1954. In 1955 in recognized school districts faced problems in descaregatura, but said they should congly with the 1954 ruling with "all deliberate speed."

Deadline Lifted

Deadline Lifted

In the Mississippi case the circuit court in August lifted a deadline that schools in the district have workable desegregation plans by the start of the current school year. The circuit court postponed the deadline until Dec. 1 after Robert H Flach, secretary of health, education and welfare, said the time was too short in view of "Administration and logistical difficulties."

The fund then appealed to the Supreme Court in behalf of several black families. The 22 schools involved are attended 135.700 black and white Finch's request for a delay was the first such request in a schools case by the federal government since the 1954 ruling. After the fund appealed to the Supreme Court the government said in a memorandum by Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold that the "deliberate speed" formula was no longer applicable to school descregation suits and consequently there was no need for the court to that the appeal morder to abandon the formula.

Obligated

Griswold said the court in several decisions since 1955 has indicated school boards are constitutionally obligated to constitutionally obligated to devise and implement plans that will promptly and that will promptly and realistically convert dual, segregated school systems into unitary, desegregated systems.

He said the U.S. Office of Education was proceeding "with dispatch" to help formulate desceregation plans for the Mississippi schools and that they would be submitted as quickly as possible and cer-tainly by Dec. 1.

Does it really work?

If you've ever resorted to NoDoz at 4 a.m. the night before an exam, you've probably been disappointed. NoDoz, after all, is no substitute for sleep. Neither is anything else we can What NoDoz is is a very strong stimulant. In fact, NoDoz has the strongest stimulant you can buy without a prescrip-

T.M. 01969 Bristol-Myers Co.,

What's so strong about that? If we may cite The Pharmacological

Basis of Therapeutics: Caffeine is a powerful central nervous stimulant. Caffeine excites all portions of the central nervous system. Caffeine stimulates all portions of the cortex, but its main action is on the psychic and sensory functions. It produces a more rapid and clearer flow of thought and allays drowsiness and fatigue. After taking caffeine, one is capable of more sustained intellectual effort and a more perfect association of ideas. There is also a keener appreciation of sensory stimuli.

Very interesting. But why take

NoDoz when you can get caffeine in a cup of coffee?

Very simple. You take NoDoz all at once instead of sipping coffee for 10 minutes. And if you take two NoDoz tablets, the recommended dosage, you get twice the caffeine in a cup of coffee.

Two tablets—isn't that likely to be habit forming? Definitely not. NoDoz is completely non-habit forming.

Which means it's safe to take whether you're cramming at night. Or about to walk into an 8 o'clock class. Or driving somewhere (even though you're rested) and the monotony of the road makes you drowsy.
One last thing you should know about NoDoz. It now comes in two forms. Those familiar white pills you take with water. And a chewable tablet called NoDoz Action Aids*. It tastes like a chocolate mint, but it does everything regular NoDoz does

And if you've managed to stay awake this long, you know that's quite a lot.

For Wednesday's Moratorium

Groups Gather Support

Next Wednesday's moratorium to protest the Vietnam war is growing into a nationwide affair that will involve persons of all ages in cluding politicians, businessmen and professional people, as well as the students who started it.

Plans for the moratorium—meaning suspension of normal activities—include rallies, speeches, marches and religious services from coast to coast, culminating in a 5 p.m. candlelight procession around the White House.

Indications are that some form of activity connected with the moratorium will take place in every state.

Washington Procession

Sponsors plan to have 45,000 marchers in the Washington procession. They will be led by the widow of the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Seventeen senators and 47 congressmen have expressed support so long as the moratorium is "peaceful. lawful and nonviolent." Some plan specches against the war in the Senate and House, Con-gressional staff members plan

Reading of Names

Names of war dead will be read at hundreds of ceremonies, including one in

New York's Wall Street, where financial workers are scheduled to take part along with Mayor John V. Lindsay and former Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell Gilpatric.

The executive board of the Central Conference of the Central Conference of American Rabbis, representing 1,100 Reform rabbis, endorsed the moratorium. Its president condemned Presductt Nixon's recent press conference state-

Luciferase, an enzymatic protein with intriguing properties, optainable only from fireflies. Luciferin, an organic molecule also found in fireflies, but synthesizable Adenosine triphosphate (ATP), a common energy-yielding substance found in all living cells.

Those are the three main indiedients in lampyridae's love light. And because ATP is common to all living cells, university researchers discovered they could produce an artificial glow by mixing lucifering and luciferase wherever life is present Noting that phenomenon, Du Pont scientists and engineers went on to develop it into a practical analytical system. Correlating the intensity of the artificial "glow" with the amount of ATP present in bacteria, they designed a means of measuring the reaction.

The result is the luminescence biometer-the first really basic improvement in bacteria-counting methods since the time of Louis Pasteur, Rather than waiting days for a culture to demonstrate growth density, a doctor or technician can now get a digital readout of bacteria concentration in a matter of minutes. Other potentially literating uses for the biometer are being suggested every day—such as diagnosing metabolic rates, enzyme deficiencies and nerve damage.

Innovation-applying the Frown to discover the unknown, inventing new materials and putting them to work, using research and engineering to create the ideas and products of the future—this is the venture Du Pont people are engaged in.

WITH THREE SCORING pass receptions in two years against Penn State, split end Oscar Patrick looms as one of West Virginia's most dangerous players.

The term "great" is rarely applied to anything from the state of West Virginia except coal, and the applications has been few and far between in recent years.

Mountaineers Rising

The rigorous discipline may not have been popular at first, but now it's starting to pay dividends. The Mountaineers went 7-3 last year and man handled a lot of teams they weren't used to beating. Syracuse, for example.

This season Carlen's men have taken up where they left off, winning their first four games in-a-row. But that's not the big story. Now, for the first time in years, the Mountaineers have a flock of talent and other people know to beware. They are ranked 17th nationally by the Associated Press and several of their performers are gaining wide reknown.

"They have the two best running backs we'll have seen this scason in Bob Gresham and Jim Braxton," Penn State assistant coach Dan Radakovich said, "an extremely accurate passer in Mickey Sherwood and the greatest split end in America, Oscar Patrick."

That's an awful lot of talent for one outfit but Radakovich was impressed by another player, too. "They might have the best middle guard in the country in Carl Crennel," Radakovich said. With Sherwood, Patrick, Gresham and Braxton, the Mountaineers should bring some nal kind of scoring machine into University Park for tomorrow's game (set for 1:30 p.m.). Fullback Braxton is in the nation's top 10 in rushing, but his services to the team don't stop there. With his place-kicking duties added, Braxton is the nation's leading scorer, with 66 points in the first four games. Just to add fuel to the running attack, Gresham is also in the top 10 in rushing. The pair has gained over 800 wards tratether.

But the real excitement in West Virginia's high-scoring array comes when Mickey Sher-wood drops back or rolls out to pass, especially when his target is Patrick.

Only halfway through his junior year, Sherwood already owns the WVU career offense record and career completions mark. And, if he picks up 77 yards passing against State, he will set a new standard in that department, too.

Patrick, a rangy 6-4 and extremely fast, is becoming a nemesis for the Lions. He's scored three touchdowns against State is two games and sat out the VMI game resting a slight injury. He'll be ready to go tomorrow and could grab the touchdown pass that will give him the WVU record.

With all those records dropping right and left, it's hard to tell the Mountaineers from a radio station. The choice is made even harder with all the noise the team has been broadcasting lately. Players talked of aiming at Penn State and of being able to "win them all, including the Penn State game."

As if that wasn't enough, word from Morgantown in the mountains has it that Carlen had to cancel Monday's practice an hour early, because ht "didn't want them getting too psyched up too soon."

With all that offensive talent at his disposal, Carlen probably needn't do too much psyching—his guys will be ready for a fight anyway. West Virginia isn't kidding anymore.

Lack of Standard Ruling Confuses Frosh Status

A confusing situation concerning the eligibility of freshman athletes for varsity sports has arisen in the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conterence. The lack of a definite rule applying to all schools in the 190 member conference has led to a situation where freshmen may be used in some contests and withheld in some contests and withheld rom others.

Two years ago, the National Collegiate Athletic Association ruled that freshmen could be used in all varsity sports except football, basketball and hockey, but left final approval up to the individual conferences.

Penn State has decided to allow freshmen to compete in varsity events, provided the opponent does not object, according to Edward M. Czekaj, State athletic director. "Penn State will abide by the Czekaj recently determined the intention of all State's opponents, so that coaches in the affected sports can plan for the individual contest. He found that 21 schools will use freshmen and that 14 will not. Two opponents in minor sports

Soph Kickers Face Pressure

By DAN DONOVAN Assistant Sports Editor

Assistant Sports Editor

In the much-publicized sport of college football, there is pressure on every player on the field. One little mistake can change the course of a very emotional sport. Unlike pro football, where mistakes are shrugged off and corrected by vigorous play, a mistake in college football can cause a change in momentum and a change in the outcome of the entire game.

One place where pressure is most evident is in kicking. If the offense fails to score a touchdown, one player is rarely blamed—the whole offense has bogged down. But if a placekicker misses an extra point or field goal, he alone bears the wrath of the fans.

When a punter sees the ball fly out from between the legs of the center, he knows that he could be the only object between that brown, egg-shaped piece of rubber and six points for the opposing team. If he makes a mistake, the whole team suffers.

Penn State coach Joe Paterno knows the importance of kicking in the game. "In a given game," he said, "kicking may be more important than any other phese of offense or defense."

But Paterno has seen

But Paterno has seen fit this season to fill the valtable kicking positions with the two untried sophomores, two sophs who still remem-ber high school where the most pressure they felt was whether they could get a date for the homecoming dance.

While most of the sophs are waiting for the Reids, Jacksons and Smiths to graduate, Mike Reitz and Bob Parsons have assumed crucial roles in the Lion offense. Most sophs can only the transfer of the state of the shout encouragement from the sidelines during the game, but Reitz is place kicking and Parsons is punt-

Paterno feels this is good experience for the youngsters. "It really helps them feel as if they're in with the team." said Paterno. "Kicking has made them feel as if they are contributing to winning."

Reitz certainly has contributed to the good of the team—he is the scoring leader with 21 points. He hasn't missed an extra point in nine tries and is four for six in field goals. Curiously, he is not satisfied with his performance.

"I need to work more on my distance." said Reitz.
"I have been pretty accurate, but I need to kick farther."
Paterno agrees with his placekicker. "He is a good might use Bob Garthwaite, who has greater range but is not as consistent."

"Crowd reaction never seems to hurt you when you're on the field," Reitz said, "Kicking is an automatic reaction learned in practice and in a game you don't really have time to think, you just kick."

One of the reasons State did so well in last week's game against Kansas State was Parsons' punting. He averaged 43.1 yards per punt, despite the fact that half of his kicks were into a gusty wind. A 64-yarder put the Wildcats deep in a hole just when they were starting to raily.

"Parsons is kicking not only for good distance," said Parson, "but he is also getting the ball up high. Parsons has the potential to be one of the finest punters in the Parsons admits that the pressure bothered him at first. "I was really scared in the first game," he admitted, "If you blow it, everyone knows it."

Paterno credits Parsons with lots of poise. "He's a real competitor," the coach said. "He responds well to pressure."

Parsons is listed as a quarterback on the loster and his passing and running ability may come in handy in an emergency. Don't be surprised to see the sturdy 6-3, 233-pound youngster take off with the ball if pressured. All but the most exceptional sophomores have been known to succumb to pressure in past seasons, bu Lions already have two who are proven under fire.

Booters To Visit Army

By JAY FINEGAN Collegian Sports Writer

For two hundred years the United States Army has been carrying out orders. They do this so well that all men who have faced them have found them tough competitors. And the Army believes that its leadership and determination are molded before actual battle on playing fields.

Take the military's future officers, for example. West Point, N.Y. is their testing ground. Some call these men cadets. Those who do athletic battle with them call them the "Black Knights of the Hudson." Teams which find the trail up along that lazy waterway are often too dazed by the Black Knights to find their way back. Army, any way it is said, comes out fighting. it is said, comes out fighting.

State Meets Army

Penn State's rebuilding soccer team, barely recovered from a 2-0 defeat by West Chester last Wednesday, faces West Point's fiery band this afternoon, up-river. Coaches around the country picked Army eighth in a pie-season survey.

For the Lions, who own the nation's most hazardous schedule, it provides the unenviable challenge of taking on two powerhouses in the same week—and doing it with a substantial portion of their unit watching in civilian clothing. As against the Rams, State must forfeit use of its freshmen-varsity performers. These are the unique first year men who never know from day to day if they belong to a frosh team or the varsity. Centennial Raises Gridiron Questions

By JAY FINEGAN Collegian Sports Writer

All right, football enthusiasts, this centennial season is nearing its half-way mark and you have read as much gridiron literature as could possibly be run off America's presses. Let's see how well you have digested the lessons of the football season. Ready? Please give the first answer that comes to your mind.

Question—Goalpost University's high-flying 11 suffered through a gruelling spring practice, after a winter of weight training. The team worked in a quarry all summer, replacing the steam shovels. They ran laps at night and lived on a diet pre-pared by the curator of the Bronx Zoo. After returning to preseason camp in late August for a month of practice, Goalpost is ready to open its sea-What does the coach have to say befor the first game?

FINEGAN

Answer - "I only hope we'll be ready for them. My boys really haven't had time to get set."

Q-Coach Arsonic Aardvark has a player on his squad who is out on bail, leads the conference in breaking noses and fights tooth decay four ways-with his fist, knees, elbows and helmet. What does the coach say about this public menace?

A-He's got character. He's the kind of kid you just can't leave out of the lineup.

Q-We have a middle linebacker who plays despite a broken ankle, four cracked ribs, a concussion and a recent heart transplant. How is he described in the papers?

A-They say this kid has "desire."

Q-Does he?

A-Yes, but he's also got a hole in his head. The thing he desires most is a short life.

-The 5-6, 145-pound quarterback for Flypaper Tech has just been turned into a grease spot by three 6-6, 275-pound defensive lineman and two blitzing linebackers. Ambulance sirens are wailing and stretchers are being hustled onto the field. How is the play described?

A—The announcer tells us that the quarter-back appears to have been "shaken up."

Q-A team that has crushed all opposition by one-sided scores, includes six All-America picks and a Heisman Trophy candidate, meets its traditional Thanksgiving Day rival, a school that is trying to drop football and has a fullback who flunked his physical for the Dramatics Club. What do the papers say about this one?

A-Anything can happen when these two teams meet. You throw the book out the window for this game.

Q-Coach Savage has stripped the state of healthy ball players. He has emptied the steel mills, taken talent from the coal mines and suited up every knife-carrying ruffian who has finished the eighth grade. He demolishes a team that has had poor recruitment and would be an underdog against the Girl Scouts. What do we say of Coach

A—We say he is a strategic genius. Napoleon couldn't have organized a better attack.

Excellent, sports fans. You have learned your lessons well and have helped bring collegiate foot-ball through its first, brutal 100 years, where the belief is generally held that "Winning is more important than anything else."

Series Starts Tomorrow

Orioles Prep for Mets

Weaver tuned up his snappy chatter while the

"Sure. All they ask will be blah anyway."
"Will you be up for the Series?"
"Yeah. After the final workout today, I'm going to stick around and practice taking the line-up card to the plate. Then I might practice running to first, second and third base-in case there's an argument."

Weaver looked at the Memorial Stadium clock and noted the countdown to game time for tomorrow's opening game was some 49 hours and 26 minutes.

If there was anyiety there was no lack of

If there was anxiety, there was no lack of confidence. And the feeling was shared by the whole squad, as the Orioles went through a spirited workout.
