SEVEN CENTS

IFC Views Major Visitation Changes

Gregory Buys Back His Soul

By MICHAEL SERRILL
Collegian Editorial Editor

Had Dick Gregory performed at the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas Saturday afternoon, he might have made $5,000. After making hundreds of paunchy, rich businessmen and their madams laugh heartily, he might have driven to a plush hotel in his Lincoln Continental and rested for his next $5,000 performance.

Then what in hell was he doing in State College, many might ask, speaking to a bunch of enthusiastic but poor college students?

To more than 4,000 Penn State students who filled every nook and cranny of the Hetzel Union Building Saturday to hear Gregory speak, the reason was obvious.

Gregory wouldn't have been permitted to tell his audience at the Sands "This is the most morally polluted, insane, corrupt nation on the face of the earth."

The Sands' management would have cringed in horror and torn up his contract had they heard him call his audience "corrupt, degenerate, old fools" who are responsible for all the ills which plague the country.

And the "old fools" themselves would have been thoroughly confused. When Gregory told them he was running for President on the Peace and Freedom ticket, they would have assumed it was one of his better jokes and laughed till their sides split. When he called them names, they would have assumed he was leading up to another joke. When they finally realized he was sincere, they would have gotten red in the neck and flown into a wild rage.

And this is in large part the reason why

Drastic changes in fraternity visitation rules were proposed last night at a closed meeting of the Interfraternity Council.

IFC President Eric Prystowsky said that the special session was held "to air out viewpoints" which could lead to liberalization of visitation.

The University Senate has approved visitation rules permitting women to be in fraternity houses between the hours of 7:30 p.m. and 1 a.m. Sunday through Thursday. On weekends, if there is no social function in the house, women may stay until late permission curfew.

Ad Hoc Committee Formed

However, Prystowsky said that an ad hoc committee has been appointed to consider liberalization of visitation rules. According to Prystowsky, the committee will study the views brought out by Council members at the closed session and write new legislation based on what fraternity members want. "I would say definitely that the majority of the constituency wants liberalization of the rules," Prystowsky said.

A plan to eliminate all visitation rules was discussed. Women would then be permitted in men's rooms 24 hours a day. Alcoholic beverages could also be served behind closed doors in fraternity members' rooms.

During the past week, this idea was presented informally to a number of IFC members by Nate Kurland, a member of Zeta Beta Tau.

"Nate wasn't even at the meeting," Prystowsky said. "I think this showed a lack of interest. The initiative for this bill is not his. It's in the hands of the ad hoc committee."

"The committee will seek to find out what the fraternity men want, not what the Administration is willing to give," Prystowsky said, in describing the functions of the ad hoc group.

Perry Heads Group

Russ Perry, president of Tau Kappa Epsilon, is chairman of the committee. Gary Jones of Zeta Psi, Barry Kassel, of Beta Sigma Rho, Jim Pittinger of Beta Theta Pi and Ernest Salvino, executive vice president of IFC, are members of the committee.

"The committee is attacking the visitation rules one at a time and providing a rationale for all provisions in the new legislation," Prystowsky said. "The revised visitation legislation will be ready in the next two weeks."

During the regular meeting, the Council voted to authorize the purchase of a bulk rate mailing permit. Fraternities sending out over 200 pieces of mail may use the bulk rate of 1 1/4 cents per item. The bulk rate stamping machine will be located in the IFC Office.

Speakers' Program

Rush Committee Chairman Steve Brose reported that Pi Omicron Sigma, the honorary fraternity within the IFC, will work with the rush committee to initiate a residence halls speakers' program. Pi Omicron Sigma Members will go to residence halls to discuss fraternity rush and Greek life in general.

Brose also said that over 1,400 men have signed up for fraternity rush this term while 200 men have already pledged.

Concert Chairman Bob Broda said that by the end of the week, groups should be under contract for the Greek Week concert of Jan. 26. The Vanilla Fudge and either Martha and the Vandellas or the Chambers Bros. will perform.

Suggests Full-Time, On-Campus Lawyer

Prof Urges Counsel for Students

By MARC KLEIN
Collegian Staff Writer

The University was accused Sunday of offering no legal aid to students involved in illegal acts both on and off campus.

Aaron Druckman, associate professor of philosophy, told students at Sunday's Walkertown Free Speech Movement (FSM) forum that a student involved in a legal action has no one to turn to for advice.

"No system of law can be just if the individual confronted with a police situation is left alone and does not know what to do next," Druckman said.

He suggested that an office of legal aid staffed by a lawyer be established at the University.

"You have a health center. You don't have to run to the Centre County hospital. You do not have to run to the physicians in town. Why should there not be an office of legal aid for students?" Druckman asked.

A committee was formed Sunday to investigate Druckman's proposal. Alan Engel, who will head the group, told The Daily Collegian last night he would like to see an office of legal aid established in the Hetzel Union Building.

It was mentioned at Walkertown that the Undergraduate Student Government has a Legal Awareness Committee to aid students in trouble. Engel said he would like to work with the USG committee to bring a full-time lawyer here.

Julian Kalkstein, head of the USG Legal Awareness Committee, explained his group's function to the Collegian last night.

Two Alternatives

The USG committee, he said, informs students of their rights, explains the procedures followed by the student court or tribunal and acquaints students with the workings of the office of the area residence hall coordinators.

Kalkstein said that the committee has two alternatives in dealing with students involved in town legal action. The case will be turned over to the Town Independent Men's Council if it involves downtown apartment grievances. In cases dealing with the police, USG will retain a lawyer from town to aid the student.

USG can only request that a town lawyer accept a case, Kalkstein stressed, it cannot demand that he does. The final decision is up to the lawyer.

In reference to the new Walkertown committee, Kalkstein said, "I'm all for it. I'm in favor of having a lawyer hired full-time for students."

Bookstore Issue

In other action at the Walkertown FSM forum Sunday, Steve Gerson, executive assistant to USG President Jim Womer, spoke of the establishment of a University-owned bookstore.

Gerson told the gathering of about 100, "I can't see any valid objections which the Faculty Senate, the Administration or anyone else has against establishing a bookstore."

The Faculty Senate will hear a report of its bookstore committee at the November meeting, Gerson said, but no vote is expected until December or January.

The Senate already knows how the student feels, so it's just a matter of giving facts and figures," Gerson said. "As students we have done just as much as we can."

Gerson explained that a University-owned bookstore would not mean a cost reduction on new books for its customers. The margin on new books is 20 per cent, he said.

The savings for students will be on used books, school supplies, souvenirs and sweat shirts, Gerson said. The bookstore, he believes, can be financed by the income that it makes.

Gerson said that two of the main reasons for having a University-owned bookstore are the alleged unavailability of text books at the beginning of each term and the alleged poor inventory of paperbacks, reference and technical books at downtown bookstores.

Concerning the influence of downtown bookstore owners on the University, Gerson said the only thing the owners can do is apply pressure through lobbies in Harrisburg. The bookstore owners are not members of the University Board of Trustees, as has been suggested by others at past FSM forums, Gerson added.

Gerson said the needs of the University dictate a bookstore run by professionals, not students.

Walkertown, which started as a tent city protesting the housing shortage and became a general protest against the administration in the form of a free speech forum, will come alive again at 2 p.m. Sunday on Old Main lawn.

IF THE STUDENTS have a full-time health center, why shouldn't they have a full-time legal counsel available on campus? This was the question posed by Aaron Druckman, associate professor of philosophy who addressed the Free Speech Movement Sunday.

Students 'Raked Over?'

Students involved in disciplinary cases are being "raked over" by the University, according to Julian Kalkstein, chairman of the Undergraduate Student Government's Legal Awareness Committee.

Kalkstein told The Daily Collegian last night that male students are being intimidated by the Men's Tribunal, the student court for men involved in on-campus disciplinary cases.

At Sunday's Walkertown Free Speech Movement forum a committee was formed to investigate the possibility of establishing an office of legal aid on campus staffed by a full-time lawyer.

Kalkstein said he agreed with this idea because of the injustices of the present disciplinary system.

Students called before the tribunal, he said, are not permitted to bring anyone in to act as their defense. Kalkstein said the University justifies this by saying that the tribunal is not an open hearing, but a disciplinary board.

Sets Minimum Sentence
Kalkstein said that he knows of one area residence hall coordinator who sets a minimum sentence before the student has a hearing. The final sentence must then be approved by the coordinator, Kalkstein said.

USG was told by members of the tribunal, in a sample of opinions three years ago, that the tribunal was told to assume the student is guilty before the hearing, Kalkstein said.

"Students are guaranteed their charges in writing, but more than half the time they don't receive them," Kalkstein continued.

It appears that the student's guilt is determined in the coordinator's office, and the function of the tribunal is merely to determine the extent of the punishment," Kalkstein said.

He said the USG committee has asked the Administration what the students' guilt or innocence is confirmed, but was refused an answer. USG has also been refused admittance to a tribunal hearing, Kalkstein said.

"The tribunal is unfair because no delineation is made between counseling and disciplinary processes," Kalkstein said. "We are told that the tribunals are educational processes, but it does not educate students in what I consider a fair manner."

"I do not see any educational value of the Men's Tribunal," Kalkstein said. —By Marc Klein

State Official To Tour Downtown Apartments

By LOUIS ROSEN
Collegian Staff Writer

State Representative Max Homer (D-Allegheny) will visit some of the student-occupied apartments in State College tomorrow.

Town Independent Men's Council is sponsoring Homer's visit in an effort to gain support from the state legislature for improved State College housing conditions.

"We're going to take him to some of the dumps that are run here," Jeff Lobb, council housing co-chairman, said last night.

A report on a proposed lease, called the Fair Agreement, was made by Terry Klasky TIM vice-president. The lease, which has gone through five revisions, was presented by Klasky to the Centre County Realty Board at a meeting last night.

The board is expected to report next month on its decision on the lease, according to Klasky. The lease, which was reviewed last year by the Chamber of Commerce Realty Board, faces a tougher time here (before the county board)," Klasky said.

The management at Bluebell Apartments said it favors the terms of the lease. Shou-Chuan Sun, professor of mineral preparation and apartment owner, has also tentatively agreed to the lease's terms.

TIM Council President Joe Meyers said, "We are continuing surveillance of Dr. Sun. So far, Dr. Sun has appeared to be making the needed housing improvements."

Meyers will meet with Sun after Nov. 1, the mutually agreed upon deadline for making all repairs. "There will be strong actions taken if the repairs are not made by that time," said Meyers. "But we'll face that hurdle when it comes."

In other action TIM swore in 16 newly elected councilmen, including three women. TIM, the first time women have been represented on TIM.

Sworn in were Ron Carelli, Ed Diczynski, Tom Green, Scott Hildebrand, Linda Kauffman, Frank Lordi and Fred Noll.

Also Don Fager, Bob Reago, Dave Khoads, Susan Rhodes, Rick Schreyer, Dexter Thompson, Barry Todd, Garry Wamser and Marilyn Warnick.

Former Migrant To Explain Boycott

Venustiano Olguin, a former migrant worker, will speak on the plight of the California migrant worker at 7:30 tonight in 111 Bouckee.

The talk is sponsored by the United Farm Workers of California who are disputing with the California grape farm owners. The grape pickers are boycotting the grape farms by refusing to pick grapes and by refusing to purchase grapes. Their effort is directed at the farm owners who will not recognize the grape pickers union which is affiliated with the AFL-CIO.

Olguin will also speak to faculty members at 4 p.m. today in the living room lounge of the Human Development Building and at 7 tonight at Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Foul Weather Fails Onassis Honeymoon

SCORPIO ISLAND, Greece — Practically alone at last, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis and her wealthy Greek bridegroom may start their honeymoon cruise today. The word from the 62-year-old bridegroom, Aristotle Onassis, was, "Perhaps."

The decision apparently depended on some break in the foul weather that started rolling this section of the Ionian Sea a few hours before Onassis married the 39-year-old Roman Catholic widow of President John F. Kennedy in a Greek Orthodox ceremony Sunday.

The yacht Christina rocked the couple in snug luxury at her dock on this private paradise last night after they sped departing wedding guests by speedboats through wind, rain, sleet and uncommon cold to the nearby island of Levkas for flights to the mainland.

U.S. Returns 14 North Viet Prisoners

SAIGON — The United States returned 14 naval war prisoners directly to the shore of North Vietnam yesterday under a 36-hour cease-fire encompassing 288 square miles of water off the North Vietnamese coastline.

The stand down, which began at midnight Sunday and ends at midnight tonight Saigon time, was negotiated by U.S. and North Vietnamese envoys in Vientiane, the capital of neighboring Laos.

It was the first time in the war that the United States and North Vietnam had negotiated such a cease-fire diplomatically and directly.

Cease-fires have been declared by both sides in the war at Christmas and New Year's and Vietnamese holidays but these have been brought about through unilateral decisions by the allies and Viet Cong. So far as could be determined there had been no direct contact, diplomatically or otherwise, in these cases.

Supreme Court To Judge Marijuana Law

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court decided yesterday to judge a law that makes it a crime to buy or sell untaxed marijuana.

The law has been used in the past 30 years to prosecute hundreds of people who traded illegally in the drug.

Passed by Congress to help regulate marijuana traffic, the act has been in jeopardy since a federal judge in Ohio last March ruled it carries "substantial hazards of self-incrimination" and dismissed an indictment brought against a musician.

The Justice Department asked the high court for a hearing and will get one in early December. There should be a ruling by June.

Under federal law, doctors, dentists and some other special professionals are permitted to prescribe or dispense marijuana. They register with the government and pay a special tax.

Astronauts To Land Near Bermuda Today

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON — The Apollo 7 astronauts, after giving America dead aim on the moon with a near-perfect flight, said farewell from space yesterday and prepared for the return trip home.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and Walter Cunningham, sporting heavy beards, will flash from 276 miles out in space — the atmosphere searing their spacecraft during a 17,200-mile-an-hour re-entry — for a 6:11 a.m. CDT today landing in the Atlantic Ocean near Bermuda.

The 11-day flight, the nation's first three-man space voyage, is the first step in America's final dash to the moon.

Showing none of the anger they spat at their earthbound bosses Sunday, the Apollo 7 spacemen joked their way through the final Wally, Walt and Donn television show from space yesterday.

Berkeley Schools Complete Integration

BERKELEY, Calif. — The educator who presided over the total racial integration of the city's public schools, this term described it yesterday as "unbelievably successful."

"Am I pleased? I'm elated," said School Supt. Neil V. Sullivan. "It exceeded my fondest expectations."

The switchover has not been accomplished without its share of bugs, including playground battles between Negro and white children and a few goofs at the administrative end.

"We have problems," conceded Sullivan, who leaves Berkeley soon to become head of public education for the State of Massachusetts. "But it's working, by God!"

It is the first complete public school desegregation in a U.S. city of over 100,000 population.

Decision on Bomb Halt Expected Soon

WASHINGTON — Communist leaders in Hanoi are believed by Washington officials to be in the final stages of debate on whether and how to accept U.S. terms for an end to the bombing of North Vietnam.

Agreement between Washington and Hanoi on a 36-hour local ceasefire around the North Vietnamese city of Vinh to permit the safe return of 14 North Vietnamese seamen could be a hopeful sign of some broader understanding to come.

U.S. officials discount any direct connection between the Vinh ceasefire deal and the far greater issues involved in a bombing halt. But diplomats in Hanoi very likely intended some significance in its agreement to the Vinh suspension of hostilities at just this time.

A far more important reason advanced for cautious optimism about the de-escalation accord between the United States and North Vietnam is that North Vietnam has made such heavy cutbacks in its forces in the South.

Discrimination Charged at Steel Plant

WASHINGTON — Labor Department counsel charged yesterday Bethlehem Steel Co. discriminates against Negroes in all 96 departments at its Sparrows Point plant near Baltimore.

The department has asked that government contracts with Bethlehem at Sparrows Point, totaling about $50 million, be cancelled because of the alleged anti-Negro policy.

Ralph L. McAfee, counsel for Bethlehem, defended Sparrows Point employment practices at a hearing yesterday. He said Bethlehem has increased the percentage of Negroes employed, promotions of Negroes and approval of requested transfers in recent years.

McAfee said Bethlehem is better to Negroes than any other steel company and better than industry in general.

Machinist Charged in Ballerina Murder

PITTSBURGH — A 25-year-old apprentice machinist has been charged with murdering a young, blue-eyed, blonde German ballerina whose charred skeleton was found on a pyre of burned automobile tires in a wooded dump site.

Allegheny County Dist. Atty. Robert W. Duggan identified the defendant as Robert Langhurst of Rt. 4, Tarentum. He said the arrest of Langhurst came after near round-the-clock detective work since the remains of Renata Kaltenmorgen, 23, were found Oct. 12.

Board To Suggest Musmanno's Successor

HARRISBURG — The selection of a successor to the late State Supreme Court Justice Michael A. Musmanno will be a test of a proposed new system for choosing high court judges, Gov. Shafer's office said yesterday.

The governor plans to appoint a seven-man commission to advise him on the appointment of Musmanno's interim successor. The commission members, to be selected jointly by the governor and active justices of the Supreme Court, will present Shafer with a single name for his consideration.

The system is a model of the procedure suggested for inclusion in the amended state Constitution by last year's Constitutional Convention. The convention proposal, scheduled to go before the voters for their approval in the primary election next May, calls for a commission to recommend persons to fill vacancies on all statewide benches.

Credit Students For Gregory Talk

It isn't easy getting a presidential candidate to stop off at Penn State while in the midst of a campaign.

It is even more difficult when you make the arrangements only a few days beforehand. And it would be pretty near impossible to do if your went through administrative channels in the University.

But thanks to the efforts of two students who avoided any "hassle with the Administration," Dick Gregory spoke here Saturday and received a warmer welcome than any of the three "major" candidates could have.

Clark Arrington, president of the Jazz Club, and Steve Haimowitz, president of the White Liberation Front, joined forces to bring Gregory to the University, and they did it with a few phone calls and a little bit of initiative.

Contacting Gregory's manager by telephone was the first step. That was easy. Raising the $600 required to bring Gregory here was the next step, and as it turned out, that wasn't too difficult, either.

Arrington and Haimowitz were pleasantly surprised by the response when they went to student organizations and asked for contributions.

Associated Student Activities, the Association of Women Students, the Douglas Association, the Jazz Club, Students for Gregory, Students for State, The Daily Collegian and the Undergraduate Student Government all contributed to the cause.

In addition, the political science and sociology departments, as well as David Gottlieb, professor of human development, made contributions.

Clark Arrington best described the efforts to bring Gregory here when he introduced the comedian-candidate Saturday in the Hetzel Union Building.

"This is an example of what students can do when they get together," Arrington said. "This was done by making a few phone calls, with no hassle with the Administration."

University students showed their appreciation by packing the HUB for Gregory's 75 minute talk. Nearly 4,000 students crammed into the ballroom, lounges and other rooms to hear Gregory over the loudspeaker system.

Time and again the crowd interrupted him with cheers and applause. When he criticized the white community, the white students sat back and took it, then cheered wildly at Gregory for saying it. When he lashed out at the "old fools" who run this country, the applause was deafening. When it was learned that Gregory turned over $200 of his fee to the University's Martin Luther King scholarship fund, the students praised him even more.

We join in the cheers. We applaud Gregory, and the people who brought him here.

Corrections From Freedom Union

TO THE EDITOR: As a representative of the Freedom Union, the free counseling service for draft-eligible men in the State College area, I agree with your editorial statement (Oct. 19), that it is "appalling" that a vast majority of graduate students and graduating seniors, "even those who profoundly disagree with both the draft and the war, make no protest and attempt no appeal" of their draft classifications.

Since the Freedom Union is committed to dispensing trustworthy information about the draft, however, I would like to supply a couple of corrections for some misleading statements contained in your editorial.

One editorial statement implied that all male students could legally evade the draft by "finding wives and making babies." This is not the case. According to Section 1622.40 Class III-A of the Selective Service Regulations and certain memoranda, a registrant who requests and obtains a II-S classification after June 30, 1967 shall not be eligible for a III-A fatherhood deferment.

Another editorial statement claimed that conscientious objector status (with no distinction between I-O and I-A-?) would be granted "usually only if you lie rather convincingly." Contrary to this opinion, a person who "by reason of religious training and belief, is conscientiously opposed to participation in war in any form," (Military Selective Service Act of 1967, Sec. 6.) has the best chance to obtain a CO deferment only if he tells the truth. This applies to religiously unorthodox, non-pacifist COs who are also legally entitled to obtain I-O or I-A-? deferments.

The Freedom Union also has information on emigration to Canada for those persons who have exhausted all other alternatives.

More on the Post-Game Rally

TO THE EDITOR: After reading Saturday's "Letters to the Editor," I feel David M. Coleman may be mistaken on two points.

First, if UCLA happens to beat USC on Nov. 23, the destruction done to UCLA's campus (and also the city of Los Angeles) might be a little more extensive than "an abundance of garbage" and "broken glass." Secondly, UCLA does not play Penn State at least for the next 10 years, so his cheering will have to be done watching replays of the 1968 Democratic Convention.

The New Gregory: Rejecting the 'Fools'

Gregory has renounced his profession and the riches it was bringing him. He decided that he was wasting his time and talent on complacent, white, middle-aged, middle class America, that it is hopeless to try to instill social consciousness in such people.

Looking remarkably like a black Fidel Castro with a full black beard and blue denim jacket, Gregory told the huge crowd Saturday: "You young people are the most morally dedicated group of young people that's ever lived in the history of this country. I'm sorry to have to tell you that if the country survives it will be through you. It will be through the drastic changes you make."

Though Gregory's syntax was less than perfect and some of his descriptions and analogies were extreme, the crowd loved him. They loved him not only because he was funny, but because he was obviously passionately dedicated and intelligent. But most important, they loved him because he made clear that he understands young people, white and black — why they are alienated from the society run by their elders, why they have adopted the New Morality.

Reachin' and Searchin' "You young people are reachin' around and searchin' and the Establishment keeps lyin' to you," he declared. "You dress the way you dress today and you act the way you act today because you go out of your way to keep from identifying with the corrupt, immoral power structure."

But the "old fools" don't understand. They keep asking why do these kids today dress so strange and why don't they get a haircut and why do they grow beards?

Gregory's answer: "These young kids are tryin' to tell these old fools that morality will no longer be a Brooks Brothers' suit and a clean shaven face and a haircut. When you have proved that, you have really exposed the system."

But the power brokers are too busy with their own affairs to stop and look at themselves. They are, in Gregory's view, too busy condemning the youth and their new morality to stop and look at their own degeneracy.

"Fifteen thousand hippies and yuppies showed up in Chicago, and the country got up-tight. Two weeks ago, 20,000 corrupt, degenerate old fools from Wall Street showed up to watch some broad's titbits. These are the people who decide what the prices and opinions of the world are gonna be." And these are the people, he implied, whom we should get up-tight about, not the hippies and yuppies.

Why didn't the Establishment get upset when 20,000 businessmen gathered on the streets of New York to do some "tittle-watch-ing," asked Gregory. Why didn't the Establishment cry communist conspiracy when college students were packing telephone booths and swallowing gold fish and staging party raids? Gregory's answer to all these questions is, "They weren't tryin' to change nothin'."

But the youth and the blacks, led by men like Gregory, are trying to change something, and have thus far been frustrated in the effort.

"If I become President," Gregory said whimsically, "the first thing I'll do is paint the White House black." Cheers and laughter. "The second thing I'll do is bring the boys home from Vietnam"—thunderous cheers—"and send LBJ." Peals of laughter. "Yes, I'll send LBJ to Vietnam with nothing but a barbecue gun, and have Eartha Kitt call him every day and say 'We think we got a peace feeler here.'"

On a more serious note, Gregory later proposed the abolition of unions if they continue to support the Establishment, and the shattering of the capitalist system into "little, bitty pieces" if it fails to help institute change.

Gregory's method for combating the power of the capitalists is adapted from the California grape workers—the boycott.

"You want the boys home from Vietnam?" he asked. "Well, you organize a nationwide boycott campaign that if the war is not over in two weeks time, you're gonna quit smoking cigarettes, and the cigarette industry will bring those soldiers home."

Shattered Illusions Gregory shattered many people's illusions by failing to once mention Black Power or black separatism. He is, in fact, a staunch integrationist and an apostle of non-violence. But he does not condemn the violence which has torn apart the nation's cities. He sees it as an inevitable result of an unjust social structure led by hypocritical "old fools."

The white power structure has created and supported "the Army, Navy, CIA, and FBI, and they are telling the blacks to be non-violent. Well, we say to them, 'You go straight to hell, baby.'"

Gregory left Penn State in a flurry of handshakes from whites and blacks, autographing draft cards on the way.

What has his barnstorming tour of the nation's colleges accomplished? For one thing, it has left him more than $30,000 in debt. But more important to Gregory, it has allowed him to buy back his soul from the "old fools" who run and patronize places like the Sands Hotel. His chief purpose is to help the rest of the country do the same.

Letter Policy

The Daily Collegian welcomes comments on news coverage, editorial policy and campus or non-campus affairs. Letters must be type-written, double spaced, signed by no more than two persons and no longer than 30 lines. Students' letters should include name, term and major of the writer. They should be brought to the Collegian office, 23 Sackett, in person so proper identification of the writer can be made, although names will be withheld by request. If letters are received by mail, Collegian will contact the signer for verification. The Collegian reserves the right to fairly select, edit and condense all letters.

Gregory Mixes Message With Humor

If Capitalistic System Is Not Put Into Place, It Must Be Broken Up Into 'Little Bitty Pieces'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following quotations are excerpts from Dick Gregory's speech Saturday in the Hetzel Union Building.)

"You young people today are the most morally dedicated group of young people that has ever lived in the history of this country. I'm sorry that I have to tell you that if the country survives it will be through you, it will be through the drastic changes you make or go through. The insult is that you have to deal with problems that you had nothing to do with."

"You know I tell you today—that the number one problem confronting America today is the problem of air pollution. I say the number one problem confronting America today is moral pollution. This is the most morally polluted, insane, corrupt nation on the face of the Earth."

"Wouldn't it have been marvelous if in 1920 and 1930 in Germany, there had been a bunch of hippies and yippies Germans who would have turned those Nazis on to the extent that they would have been so busy whuppin' Germans and dropping tear gas on one another and rioting and looting and burning one another's town down that they wouldn't have had time to be dealing with the Jews."

Who Was Immoral?
"There was 15,000 hippies and yippies in Chicago. Who do you think were the most immoral when they came to Chicago—the 15,000 hippies and yippies or the 15,000 shriners when they came for their convention?"

"Who do you think committed the most adultery in Chicago—the shriners or the yippies and hippies?"

"Who do you think spent the most money on the prostitutes and whores—the shriners or the yippies and hippies?"

"The right wing is trying to tell you that you're the far left. There's a difference between the New Left and the Far Left. This country has never developed a far left, yet. It all depends on how many Richard Daleys and how many Chicago situations there are—that will determine how far left you go."

"Why is it you can burn your social security card, which is the most important card, and nobody gives a damn? When you burn the draft card, you're telling the corrupt syndicate and the controlling power structure that you might not be fighting any more wars that some fools got you in."

"Fifteen thousand hippies and yippies showed up in Chicago and the country got up tight. Three weeks ago, 20,000 old, corrupt, degenerate fools from Wall Street showed up to watch a broad's titties. Did the country get up tight?"

"I do not advocate destroying the capitalistic system. But I do advocate beating it into its rightful place, and that is behind the United States Constitution, not in front of it."

"If after a certain period of time, the capitalists refuse to let this country be governed by the Constitution, and if they want to keep governing it by themselves, I say you have no alternative but to break it up into little bitty pieces."

"You want the boys home from Vietnam? You organize from one end of the country to another and set up a nationwide campaign that if the war is not over in two weeks' time, you're gonna quit smoking cigarettes, and the cigarette industry will bring those soldiers home."

"You want the Dow Chemical Company to quit making napalm? Quit trying to address them through the Constitution and address them through the capitalistic system. You'll find out that Dow Chemical makes 200 other products for the home including Dial Soap."

"You want Dow Chemical to get out of the napalm-making business? Organize across the country and tell Dow 'we ain't gonna demonstrate no more, baby. We're gonna set up a nationwide campaign to boycott every Dow product that comes into the house, including Dial soap, and Dow will hurry up and get out the napalm making business.'"

Switch the Position
"We've got to switch the position of the capitalist and the Constitution, because as long as the capitalist prevails, we will always put emphasis on property rights and no emphasis on human rights."

"It's written in the Constitution. 'We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that when these rights are destroyed over long periods of time, it is your duty to destroy or abolish that government.'"

"You young folks are reachin' out, searchin', and the Establishment keep lying to you."

"George Wallace helped me get rid of the last little bit of nigger that I had tucked in the back of my head. I really believed that white folks was smarter than black folks. But Wallace has proved to me that it's not so."

"You young people are gonna have to work to create an attitude in this country where America will become as afraid of injustices at home as she is afraid of communism abroad."

Most of Dick Gregory's fans are under voting age, but few are as young as the little toddler wearing the "Gregory for President Button" and smiling at the comedian-candidate.

The two students responsible for bringing Dick Gregory to the University watch from the stage of the Hetzel Union Building Ballroom. Steve Haimowitz (left), president of the White Liberation Front, and Clark Arrington, president of the Jazz Club, raised the money for Gregory's appearance.

"The biggest breakthrough for black folks in the history of this country happened last year in the state of Texas. We got our first colored hurricane, Beulah."

Army, Miami Win; BC Loses 1st Game

The last undefeated team on Penn State's schedule of future football foes went down to defeat Saturday, as Boston College was upended by Tulane, 28-14.

The loss broke a three-game Eagle winning streak, and also ended a seven-game Tulane losing streak. Defense did the job for Tulane. The Green Wave came up with interceptions to stifle three BC drives.

Frank Harris passed to Jim Catone for one Eagle touchdown and halfback Dave Bennett ran for the other. State travels to Boston this Saturday.

Army and Miami, two major roadblocks in State's path, fattened their records against minor opponents.

The Cadets (3-2) parlayed the running of Charlie Jarvis and Lynn Moore into a 24-0 win over Rutgers, in a game played in driving rain.

Moore and Bill Hunter carried for touchdowns set up by Jarvis' rushing, and defensive halfback Tom Haller ran back an interception for the third Army touchdown.

Opponent's Games This Week

Duke at Army
Miami at Auburn
Maryland at North Carolina State
Air Force at Pitt
Syracuse at California

Miami won its fourth game against only one loss (to first-ranked Southern California) as it edged surprising Virginia Tech, 13-8 Friday night.

Pitt fell to 1-4 on the season, losing to Navy 17-16. It was the Middies' first win of the season. Tom Sher blocked a Pitt field goal attempt with 27 seconds left to insure the win.

Middle quarterback Mike McNallen led his team to 11 points in the final period to gain the victory. Tom Daley took a McNallen pass midway through the period to pull within four points. Four plays later the Panthers let a bad pass from center roll into the end zone for a safety, making the score 16-14.

McNallen then drove the Middies from the Navy 48 to the Pitt 19, where Tom Cocozza kicked the winning field goal.

Maryland, which went 16 consecutive games without a victory, won its second straight, downing favored South Carolina 21-19. The Terps are now 2-3.

Syracuse, ranked 11th nationally by the Associated Press, was idle. The Orange dropped their opener to Michigan State, but have now won three straight games. They visit University Park Dec. 7 in the season's finale.

VILLANOVA ONCE held the rights to Steve Gentry, but since transferring last year, he's been the Lions' classiest track find. Last weekend the former PIAA mile record-holder outdistanced the field to lead a PSU triumph over Navy.

Harriers Whip Middies, 15-54

Penn State's cross country team braved wind, rain and cold to trounce Navy 15-54 last Saturday. The meet, held on the Lions' home course, was the third win in a row for the State speedsters.

Steve Gentry led the field, splashing across the finish line in 25:36.2. The senior from State College left the rest of the pack far in the background as he set the pace for the race.

Mike Schurko, State's highly-touted sophomore, came in a distant second, Ray Smith, Jeff Deardorff and Al Schaeffer tied for third place before the first Navy face was seen at the finish line.

The first five finishers were within one minute of each other. Assistant Coach Warren Coleman, replying to a comment about having a different leading runner last weekend, said, "We have a different one every week," indicating the great balance among the Lion harriers.

Navy captured sixth place in Saturday's event to reassure the fans that they were really in the race. Two other Midshipmen placed in the top 10.

The large lead the State runners had through the event was a much different picture from the first meet of the year when the Lions were buried by a strong Villanova team.

Head coach Harry Groves returns to action this week, as the Lions head into one of the most difficult and important meets of the season. Saturday the team will travel to Washington, D.C. for a meet with Georgetown. Georgetown recently defeated Villanova and established itself as one of the top teams in the country. How well the Lions do this Saturday's should be a good indication of how well they will do in the IC4As later in the season.

The varsity results:

1. Gentry, State, 25:36.2; 2. Schurko, State; 3. Tie among Smith, Deardorff and Sheaffer, State; 6. Henzey, Navy; 7. Peterson, State; 8. Dixon, State; 9. Brewer, State; 10. Fladabee, Navy.

In Rainy Overtime

GW Ties Lion Booters

By DAN DONOVAN

Collegian Sports Writer

A team with more international representation than the United Nations played Penn State's varsity soccer team to a 4-4 deadlock in two overtimes Saturday.

In a game played in the shadow of Beaver Stadium, George Washington's squad of players from all over the world displayed an exciting attack by many men who could barely speak English.

Despite the skills shown by the many Washington booters, the invaders from D.C. had to come from behind in the second overtime to tie a Lion attack which finally showed an ability to score.

Leading the attack for the State booters was Dave Stock, with two goals and an assist. For the first time this season Stock did not start, but he was placed into the battle early by coach Herb Schmidt, and Stock showed he wanted back into a starting role.

After Everest Ogu of Biafra put the Colonials ahead with a goal in the first period, Stock charged the Washington goal and put the ball in unassisted.

Mario Cruz of Brazil put the Colonials out in the lead again after taking a pass from teammate Cengiz Sagan of Turkey.

Stock wasn't about to let the players from Washington take a lead at the half, so he placed a corner kick right in front of the enemy's goal and Bob Schoepflin headed it perfectly into the nets.

Stock put State in the lead for the first time as he faked the goalie out of position and booted the ball into the empty nets.

Fabian Lopez from Uruguay sent the match into overtime with a goal in the fourth period. Two overtimes of five minutes apiece were decided upon to try to break the tie.

The first extra period passed as a defensive battle with State controlling the ball, but the Colonials blocked every scoring attempt. With only 53 seconds gone in the second period, Schoepflin scored his second goal of the game, and the overjoyed Lions held what seemed a good margin.

But the Colonials duplicated the Lions' feat of scoring after a corner kick. Georges Edeline of Haiti scored on a head ball from John Newman of, believe it or not, the United States. Both squads tried desperately to score in the closing moments, but neither team managed to hit the nets.

Crush West Virginia, 49-7

Backs Star as Frosh Romp

By DON McKEE
Assistant Sports Editor

FROSH SPLIT END Bruce Kordic, of Cleveland, Ohio, just missed this second-quarter aerial from Greg Ducatte.

Before Saturday's Penn State-West Virginia freshman football game, Dale Evans, the Mountaineer coach, noted that he hadn't spent a lot of time running his charges through scrimmages. He said he didn't want to risk injuries, that he wanted a team "strong, healthy and ready to play."

Maybe Evans has now learned the value of scrimmages. On Saturday his team arrived at Beaver Stadium with one victory to its credit, and they were strong, healthy and apparently ready to play. But it was all to no avail — Penn State's frosh smashed their Mountaineer counterparts, 49-7.

Led by a strong and fast backfield, the Lion frosh ran past, around and occasionally right over the disillusioned Mountaineers.

After the game, Earl Bruce, Penn State's freshman coach, said, "They really surprised me. That's the most points one of my freshman teams has ever scored." Then he told what may have been the secret to his young team's success.

Varsity Helps

"We were able to practice together a couple of times this week," Bruce said, "since the varsity didn't have a game. That helped us a lot."

The practice sessions undoubtedly helped, but from the way the frosh played, they might have been able to run all over West Virginia without the two scrimmages.

Halfback Lydell Mitchell looked like a younger version of Charlie Pittman, as he carried 12 times for 159 yards and two touchdowns. Fullbacks Wayne Munson and Frank Harris took turns battering the Mountaineers, Munson for two touchdowns and Harris for one. Halfback Ed Plachecki carried 13 times for 70 yards and caught a pass for a two-point conversion.

Moving that parade of running backs were quarterbacks Bob Parsons and Greg Ducatte, who took turns picking apart the disheveled Mountaineer defense.

Mitchell was the man that moved the ball the quickest and the farthest. The 5-11, 192 pounder from Salem, N.J. was all but unstoppable, as he straight-armed tacklers, danced away from and occasionally flattened them.

The speedster provided the rain-dampened crowd of 400 with the biggest moment of the game in the third quarter, when he took off on a run that was pure Gale Sayers. He took a hand-off from Parsons and started around right end. Three tacklers surrounded Mitchell, but he broke through, cut toward mid-field and kept on going for 68 yards. West Virginia's last man, halfback Stan Flemming, caught him from behind at the nine. Three plays later Parsons sneaked over from the one.

Fond Memories

The incredible show of broken-field running brought back memories of Bob Campbell in the Kansas State game and Charlie Pittman in the opening game with Navy. And Mitchell made several shorter runs look just as exciting.

As good as Mitchell was he had a lot of help. The first time the Lions got the ball, Parsons marched them 74 yards in six plays. The 6-3, 207-pound quarterback carried for 20 yards himself, but the drive was again highlighted by Mitchell, who ripped off one 21-yard gain and two shorter bursts, including a four-yarder for the touchdown. Mike Reitz added the first of his five conversions and the Lions were off and running.

Near the end of the first quarter, Mitchell and Parsons teamed to take the Lions 50 yards in three plays. The pair clicked on a 15-yard pass, Parsons ran for 31 yards and Mitchell slammed over from the four. Reitz tacked on the extra-point, and the game was downhill from there.

Parsons demonstrated some real poise and determination in the closing moments of the first half, when he led the Lions 70 yards with less than two minutes left. The calm freshman stood up to a Mountaineer pass rush and hit split end Tom Bryant with a 20-yard scoring pass on the last play of the half.

Just Desperation

The second half was anti-climactic after Mitchell put on his one-man show with the 68-yard gallop. The half was filled mainly with West Virginia's desperate attempts to rally with a passing attack, and Penn State's stubborn defense.

State defenders Gary Gray and Charlie Mesko made flashy

Apparently someone other than Pennsylvanians have heard about the Lions' football fortunes over the last year or two. Recruiters have obviously come up with some prizes outside the Keystone State, as was shown at the stadium Saturday.

No less than 14 out-of-staters participated in the fresh man contest, with several making giant contributions to the powerful 49-7 victory over West Virginia.

Halfback Lydell Mitchell, who gained 159 yards in 12 carries, was a sports star in Salem, N.J., when he was discovered by Lion scouts. The 5-11, 192-pound runner chose Penn State over a host of schools, including Ohio State.

If that weren't enough, the Garden State also produced Mitchell's backfield mates, Frank Harris of Mt. Holly and Wayne Munson of Saddle Brook. Harris covered 51 yards in seven carries, while Munson swept 13 times for 57 yards.

Quarterback Greg Ducatte, who shared the running and passing chores with Bob Parsons, was found in Plattsburgh, N.Y. He threw five times, completing one while himself skirting the ends nine times for 53 yards.

Charlie Mesko hails from Akron, Ohio and somehow escaped Woody Hayes' grasp, coming to Lion country and showing great potential. In the first contest, he intercepted two passes and played an outstanding game at defensive halfback.

Bob Campbell's home town, Appalachin, N.Y., contributed Tom Bryant, an offensive end who grabbed two passes for 30 yards and a touchdown.

In addition, Bob Spirnack of Raritan, N.J., and Craig Lyle of Clean, N.Y., both defensive linemen, turned in great performances at their positions and added to the promising outlook of this year's imports. Not to mention the potentials of the home-staters.

By the way, West Virginia's frustrated quarterback, Bernie Gallifa, hails from Donora, Pa., and has got to be wondering right now why he ever left the state.

Interceptions of Mountaineer passes, and those extra opportunities allowed the Lion backfield even more chances to score.

Munson and Harris each tallied in the third quarter and Munson hit paydirt again in the last period. Munson, from Saddle Brook, N.J., carried 13 times for 67 yards, and Harris, a native of Mt. Holly, N.J., rushed seven times for 57 yards.

Before the game, Bruce had mentioned that his job wasn't necessarily to win games, but to develop players who could step into spots with the varsity the following Spring. From Saturday's performance, Bruce's team has gotten a good start toward that objective. And Joe Paterno can't wait until Spring.

IM Entries Due

The intramural office is now taking entries for all divisions of intramural basketball. The deadline for accepting team entries is 4:30 p.m. Thursday, Dormitory, fraternity, graduate and independent leagues will be formed.

Play is scheduled to start Nov. 4, and will extend into Winter Term.

HIS FIRST touchdown in a potentially successful football career, Penn State freshman halfback Lydell Mitchell (22) squirmed into the end zone in the first period Saturday. The 5-11, 192-pound speedster gained over 150 yards and thrilled the chilled crowd with his twisting, high-stepping style. West Virginia's Leon Jenkins (24) came forward a bit late.

15 Records Smashed

MEXICO CITY AP — A fantastic total of 15 world track and field records and 27 Olympic marks erupted from an explosive combination of thin air and an artificial racing surface in the 1968 Games.

Medical experts had grossly underestimated in pre-Olympic calculations the amazing effect of Mexico City's 7,317-foot altitude on the track competition which ended Sunday.

They predicted lack of air resistance would accelerate running performances up to 800 meters in the field events, and that lack of oxygen would catch up with the distance runners.

But none expected the torrent of world record-shattering performances.

HHH Sees 'Miracle'

NEW YORK — Hubert H. Humphrey opened the final two weeks of his campaign yesterday by predicting a Democratic miracle on election day.

In the state where the Democratic senatorial candidate is Paul O'Dwyer, a peace candidate who has refused to support him, Humphrey pictured himself as a man of peace who has "not supported massive escalation" and sought "de-escalation and bombing pauses."

As a measure of Humphrey's concern for New York State's massive bloc of electoral votes, this was the Vice President's fourth visit to the state in 11 days, and he expressed confidence that New York will "tip the scale."

Humphrey also worked in a noon-time rally at Herald Square. Several thousand persons heard Humphrey predict a Democratic miracle in November, adding: "On election day I predict bankruptcy for the Nixon Republicans."

NEW YORK — Richard M. Nixon began the final two weeks of his White House camaign yesterday with an assertion that Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey "now concedes that he cannot win the popular vote."

The Republican presidential nominee claimed that his Democratic rival had shown this by saying he did not necessarily believe that the popular vote winner should be automatically selected President should the decision go to the House of Representatives.

Nixon said the only way Humphrey can win the presidency is if third party candidate George C. Wallace captures enough support to deadlock the Electoral College, thus sending the decision to the House.

BRISTOL, Tenn. — The appearance of a small group of pickets in a crowd of some 10,000 Wallace-for-President supporters brought a taunting reprisal yesterday from George Wallace.

The third party candidate spoke at a drag strip just outside Bristol to begin another six-day barnstorming campaign trip which will take him mostly into the Midwest and the East.

A small group of student-age protesters carried anti-Wallace signs into the grandstand at the drag strip.

Wallace admonished the crowd to "Let the police handle it. Everything's all right." But he told the cheering, flag-waving followers that "people all over this country are tired of some of the things we see."

AP Reporter Joins News Bureau Staff

Vincent P. Carocci, for the past six years a reporter on government with the Harrisburg Bureau of the Associated Press, has been named assistant manager of the news bureau at the University.

In this post, within the Department of Public Information, he will be concerned with general news concerning the University and also with the information programs of the Commonwealth Campuses.

He fills a position formerly held by Chester C. Gnatt, now a staff assistant to the University President Eric A. Walker.

Carocci, a native of Scranton, upon his graduation from the University with the bachelor of arts degree in journalism in 1958, was employed as a general reporter and sports reporter for the Johnstown Tribune-Democrat.

Entering the Army in 1959, he completed two years of service as a first lieutenant assigned to a unit under command of the Assistant Chief of Staff for Intelligence, Department of the Army, Washington, D.C.

In 1961, he became a government reporter for United Press International, Harrisburg, and the following year transferred to the Associated Press.

As an undergraduate at the University, he was sports editor of The Daily Collegian.

What Have You Got To Lose?

Save your seat at your first sit-in.

The trouble with a sit-in is what you sit on. And that you have to sit on it so long.

Since our thing is keeping you alert mentally, we've had no remedy for other parts of the body that may fall asleep. Until we invented The Sit-On. What distinguishes The Sit-On from an ordinary pillow is a pocket for your NoDoz®.

Which means that now you can sit it out until the wee hours. Alert from top to bottom.

I want to save my seat. Here's my $2.00. Send me The Sit-On. Send check or money order to NoDoz Pillow, 360 Lexington Avenue, New York, New York 10017.

Peace Corps Table In HUB Today

Peace Corps recruitment is taking place this week on the ground floor of the HUB Union Building.

A table has been set up which will be manned by the recruiters from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today thru Friday.

There will also be information available on the second floor of Armsbv.

The recruiters, Connie Swonger, James Mohan and Fred Cookson, will hand out information describing the training for a potential Peace Corps member. The normal training period is 12 weeks long and involves an intensive language program.

Also on the recruiters' schedule is a movie about Peace Corps members in Nigeria. This will be shown at 3 and 7 p.m. today, at 3 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. tomorrow and 3 p.m. Thursday. It will be shown on the ground floor of the HUB.

A 7 p.m. Thursday in the reading room of the HUB the recruiters will hold a discussion with volunteers, international students and student leaders representing both sides of the political spectrum. The Peace Corps image at home and abroad will be discussed. Michael Romaine (graduate-child development) who served in Nigeria from 1962 to 1964, will be moderator.

A modern language aptitude test will be given at 2 and 3 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.
